Suit Filed to Test Rolvaag Veto

Astronauts Spending Final Day on Carrier

ABOARD THE WASP (AP) — James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, now close enough to home to see their own historic space-walk film on shipboard television, began their final festive day at sea today and got set for a round of welcomes awaiting them ashore. Almost all of the intensive medical testing behind them, the astronauts' schedule today called for "technical debriefing" — talking into tape recorders at length about their four-day mission and being questioned in detail by space experts.

The Gemini 4 twins said their most memorable moments of the flight were, for White, his 20-minute stroll in space, and, for McDivitt, the capsule's re-entry through the earth's atmosphere.

They were among the millions who thrilled at the sight of vivid movies of the space stroll. The films were released Tuesday in Houston, Tex., and the astronauts saw a televised version late Tuesday night.

Space doctors also continued to be mildly amazed at the astronauts' fine physical condition after their arduous journey.

Medical tests showed little ill effects on the astronauts' hearts from four days of weightlessness, though there was one minor health problem Tuesday: McDivitt had a nosebleed.

Doctors said the nosebleed probably resulted from the drying effect of breathing pure oxygen for nearly 98 hours. They said future astronauts might take along something to lubricate the inner nose.

The astronauts' schedule on their scheduled return to Houston Thursday already was crowded with parades and other honors for their admiring public. Here's what's planned so far:

Thursday — Arrive in Houston at 10:30 a.m. (EST) for a parade, visit with their families, news conference, further debriefing.

Friday or Saturday — A likely visit to President Johnson's ranch in Texas.

Monday — Ticker-tape parade in Chicago.

Tuesday — Honors by the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Both men are graduates of the university.

Wednesday — A homecoming celebration at Jackson, Mich., McDivitt's home town.

No homecoming plans were announced yet for White. He is a native of San Antonio, Tex., but has lived in about 50 cities, the son of an Air Force general. His parents now live in St. Petersburg, Fla., and a space center spokesman said the celebration probably would be there.

Space officials had to decline a number of invitations — including a traditional ticker tape parade in New York, Newark, N.J., and Miami, Fla., also extended parade invitations which were in turn "declined regrettably," said Julian Scheer, NASA associate public affairs administrator.

"It was a matter of scheduling," Scheer said.

Aboard the Wasp Tuesday, Paul Haney, NASA information officer, interviewed the astronauts as to their most exciting moments during the flight.

White said his plainly was the 20-minute venture outside Gemini 4 — during which he said he did a little dance on the capsule, Haney reported.

Troops Committed to Combat

New Viet Nam Decision Logical, Say Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military officials said today a decision to commit U.S. Marine and Army troops to fight in support of South Vietnamese units, when requested, is a "logical extension of what we've been doing out there."

Over the past three months, operations of U.S. ground units have progressed gradually from a relatively static perimeter defense of the key base at Da Nang to aggressive patrolling variously called "combat kill" and "search and destroy" missions.

"In any good defense, you've got to move out and find the enemy — and that's what we're doing in Viet Nam," one veteran officer said.

Patrols of Marines and Army paratroopers have ranged farther afield in seeking contact with the Communists. So far the action has been on a relatively small scale.

The decision to commit U.S. fighting units as "fire brigades" to help the South Vietnamese raises the possibility that Marines and paratroopers may become involved in major action in battalion strength and perhaps larger.

Acknowledgement by the State Department Tuesday that American fighting units are available for what is called "combat support" is a further retreat from the original U.S. position that American troops are in South Viet Nam not to wage war but to advise the South Vietnamese on how to win their own fight for security.

The new development could present a potentially sticky problem in relations between U.S. and Vietnamese officials.

Pentagon officials told a reporter they did not know at this time whether, for example, the U.S. Marine battalion sent to reinforce South Vietnamese troops would be under the command of a South Vietnamese officer if that officer on the scene outranked the American battalion commander.

The feeling was that ground rules would have to be nailed down before such operations take place, lest friction occur between the Americans and the South Vietnamese in the field.

There now are about 51,000 American servicemen in South Viet Nam. About 20,000 of these are Marines and Army paratroopers in combat units.

In addition, 4,000 Army troops in a brigade have been at least tentatively scheduled to land in South Viet Nam later this month to guard bases at Qui Nhon and Nha Trang on the South China Sea coast. Their assigned mission, according to informed sources, will be base security, counterinsurgency and combat operations.

Duxbury, Eight Others Bring Action in Court

ST. PAUL (AP)—Nine members of the Minnesota House of Representatives have filed suit in court to test the validity of Gov. Karl Rolvaag's veto of the 1965 reapportionment bill.

The suit, filed in Ramsey County District Court Tuesday, requested that H. Y. Torrey, secretary of the Senate, turn the bill over to Secretary of State Joseph L. Donovan, and that Donovan accept the bill as "final and effective."

If they do not comply, Torrey and Donovan are requested to appear in the Ramsey County District Court July 1 to show cause for their action.

There was no indication when any decision of the test case would be reached but whatever the ruling the case was expected to go to the Minnesota Supreme Court.

The reapportionment bill passed by the Conservative-dominated 1965 legislature moved 5 Senate seats and 10 House seats from rural to the Twin Cities metropolitan area.

When Rolvaag, DFL leader, vetoed the bill he described it as "blatant, partisan gerrymandering." He said acceptance of the bill would keep the Conservatives in power in both houses.

The suit was filed by Reps. L. L. Duxbury Jr., Caledonia, speaker of the House; Aubrey W. Dirlam, Redwood Falls, majority leader; Robert C. Kucera, Northfield, chairman of the House Reapportionment Committee; Salisbury Adams, Wayzata; Richard W. Fitzsimmons, Argyle; Harold J. Anderson, Minneapolis; George A. French, Minneapolis; Walter K. Klaus, Farmington; and Carl M. Iverson, Ashby.

Iverson is a Liberal; the other eight are Conservatives.

The plaintiffs' complaint charged that under Minnesota's constitution the legislature has "the sole and exclusive power to enact reapportionment legislation and to make it complete, final and effective."

They said approval of the governor was not necessary for the bill passed by both houses and that "the governor was without power to exercise any veto."

While no mention was made, it was indicated attorneys for the legislators would rely on a state Supreme Court decision in 1954. In that case, the court ruled that a bill raising judges' salaries could become law without the governor's signature.

The plaintiffs called attention to a federal district court ruling in December, 1964, holding the 1959 apportionment invalid, and the fact that this court has retained jurisdiction, and added:

"It is imperative that the question of whether Senate File 102 became effective upon its passage by the Senate and House of Representatives be promptly determined by this court in order that the constitutionality of Senate File 102 may be determined by the federal courts in such time as to permit the conduct of the 1966 primary and general elections for members of the legislature in an orderly fashion."

"Unless this question is promptly determined by this court, the citizens of Minnesota may be deprived of their constitutional right to fair, equal and effective representation in the state legislature."

The state attorney general, Robert Mattson, is expected to represent Torrey and Donovan in court.

America and Russia In Race for Moon

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are locked in a tight race to reach the moon first. The winner's rewards will be great: national prestige, scientific knowledge, perhaps military domination of space.

The flights this week of Gemini 4 and the Soviet Luna 6 are dramatic evidence that both nations are very much in the race.

Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, advanced the United States a long way on the lunar highway with their four-day flight during which White took a 20-minute walk in space. Manned flights in the Gemini and Apollo programs now are scheduled at two-month intervals in a drive toward a manned lunar landing, which could come as early as 1968.

It is suspected that Luna 6 will attempt the first soft-landing of an instrumented capsule on the moon if it reaches there as scheduled Friday. Success of such a maneuver would provide vital data on the strength of the moon's surface — information needed before men set foot there.

The United States plans to attempt a soft-landing with an unmanned Surveyor craft in October.

Why go to the moon? This question has been debated in scientific and government circles since President John F. Kennedy committed the United States to the race in 1961.

Most scientists favor sending men to the moon. But from the start the Apollo lunar landing project has had its critics. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called it a "stunt race." Several respected scientists believe the money and brainpower could be better spent to improve the lot of man through medical research, anti-poverty programs and the like. Some contend automatic spacecraft could do the job better than man.

The one aspect that seems to bother the American public is the estimated $20-billion price tag.

"That's a lot of money," says James Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "But as big as that $20 billion looks, we are spending only one per cent of our Gross National Product on space — so we can afford it."

But she knew what she was going for — she clutched for dear life the box holding the medal.

Jane Grayson was perhaps the most tired of the scholars. Jane was valedictorian of her graduating class at Miami Beach (Fla.) Senior High Monday night. She caught a midnight flight to Washington, and found no time nor desire to sleep.

"This is all so wonderful," she said. "Just wonderful. I'll sleep some other time." The boy from the big city looked southward across the South Lawn to where the Jefferson Memorial was bathed in a soft glow of light, whistled under his breath and said, "Boy, this is the prettiest back yard I've ever seen."

The youngsters were front and center in the East Room, where President Johnson told them, "The life of your land is in good hands as its destiny passes, and as it will, into your hands."

Frank Moulton, 61, a member of the City Council 22 years, was defeated in the 10th Ward aldermanic race by Jack Newton, 36, a high school teacher, 4,143 to 3,754.

Naftalin Wins Re-election in Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mayor Arthur Naftalin, protégé of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, easily won a third two-year term in Tuesday's city election.

Unofficial returns from all of the city's 195 precincts gave Naftalin, 47-year-old DFL leader, 50,366, and Republican Arnett W. Leslie, 39,874.

It was Naftalin's biggest victory margin in three elections, but it was the lightest voter turnout in many years, despite sunny, dry weather.

Complete unofficial returns also brought Al Hansen his ninth straight two-year term as city comptroller. Hansen had 46,362 votes and Kenneth E. Pettit (John 43,230).

Reynold C. Malmquist won a second term as treasurer, pulling 59,806 votes over Walter S. Hobart's 32,077.

Frank Moulton, 61, a member of the City Council 22 years, was defeated in the 10th Ward aldermanic race by Jack Newton, 36, a high school teacher, 4,143 to 3,754.

CONFIDENCE WEAKENED

Stock Market In Steady Dip

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has taken a severe beating in the past four weeks.

Its slide has been almost steady with only a few interruptions.

Some brokers said the confidence of investors in the outlook for the economy appeared to have been weakened.

Tuesday the market, as measured by the popular averages, suffered its worst loss since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, Nov. 22, 1963.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 13.10 points to 689.65. Since May 14, when it reached an all-time peak, this average has tumbled 50.57 points.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped 4.4 to 321.7. Brokers said one favorable factor was that the slump came on moderate trading. Volume Tuesday was 4.67 million shares. The daily average for the year to date has been about 5.6 million shares.

In view of the sluggish trading, brokers said the situation appeared to be more of a case of unwillingness to buy than eagerness to sell.

Some said the slide had been accelerated by the statement last week by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who said he saw "disquieting similarities" between present business conditions and the boom that preceded the 1929 crash.

Brokers say disturbing factors include talk about tight money, a lot of secondary issues coming on the market and permission for U.S. troops to engage in combat in South Viet Nam.

"It seems as though buyers have become very wary and sellers are not offering any avalanche of stock," a market analyst commented.

Steep as was Tuesday's decline, it did not compare with that on the day of the assassination, when the Dow Jones average fell 21.16.

And it was minor in comparison with "Black Monday" — May 28, 1962 — when the average dived 34.95.

2,500 Engineers Reach Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — About 2,500 U.S. Army combat engineers landed today at Cam Ranh Bay, 190 miles northeast of Saigon, to build an airfield, port and supply center there, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman hinted that more engineers were on the way. "Don't hold me to the 2,500 figure," he said.

The spokesman said the project, being undertaken jointly by the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments, would include a bridge to link the harbor area to a highway and railroad.

The new base is expected to play a key role in the U.S.-Vietnamese war effort in the central and northern parts of South Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

The engineers bring the U.S. military force in South Viet Nam to nearly 54,000 men.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U.S. planes attacked the big port of Vinh for the fifth straight day and the pilots claimed light to moderate damage to an army barracks area.

A U.S. military spokesman announced that government forces suffered their heaviest casualties of the war — 1,875 South Vietnamese and 51 Americans in the week that ended last Saturday. Viet Cong losses for the week were 1,305, the spokesman said, but these included no wounded.

The spokesman said 530 South Vietnamese troops were killed, 710 wounded and 635 either missing or captured. Ten Americans were killed, 6 were missing and 35 wounded for the same period.

The Viet Cong had 1,221 killed and 84 captured, the spokesman said.

Two more American advisers were killed today and 158 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing in bloody actions north and south of Saigon.

This brought American combat casualties in Viet Nam to 404 since December 1961.

The Americans were killed when Communist guerrillas overran a training center for militiamen at Gia Ray, 50 miles northeast of Saigon near Xuan Loc. Fifty Vietnamese were reported killed and 24 Vietnamese and an American wounded, while 30 government troops were reported missing. Officials said two Viet Cong were believed killed.

After burning much of the camp, the Viet Cong withdrew. A relief force was sent to the area but made no contact with the enemy and the stallion was abandoned.

It Was Luci!

Marquette Trip Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Baines Johnson told almost all Tuesday: She had worn a disguise. She had danced at the Marquette University prom, she had been picked with friends.

Throughout the weekend fling — primarily in the Milwaukee, Wis., area — her whereabouts were a secret from the public. "I'm human, too," the President's 17-year-old daughter said Tuesday. "I wanted for once to be out with my friends and have fun."

She flew to Chicago with her father Thursday, then with parental approval she disappeared from the public eye. Secret Service agents remained with her, but took extra precautions to stay in the background.

"I went to a lot of trouble," she said. "I did it because I wanted just for one time to be out with my friends and having a good time. It's difficult enough. I always have to have adults around and chaperons."

Then she asked: "If you have to have them, I couldn't ask for better ones."

This time, however, she wanted to enjoy life without the press and curious sightseers.

She succeeded. She attended Marquette graduation exercises, the prom, Sunday Mass and picked in the Wisconsin country-side without attracting undue attention.

There were reports she had attended the prom, a silver-blended wig hiding her dark hair.

The Milwaukee Sentinel said the mystery girl at the dance wore such a wig, and quoted Father Leonard Piotrowski as saying she was introduced under the "nom de prom" of Miss Amy Nunn from "just outside Austin, Texas."

The Sentinel said Luci confirmed her date had been Patrick J. Nugent, a Marquette senior from Waukegan, Ill. He couldn't be reached for comment.

Luci, however, declined to say what sort of a disguise she had worn or how she avoided attracting attention. She said she might want to try another masquerade sometime.

Byrd Warns Proposed Tax Cut Too Much

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd said today the Johnson administration is cutting taxes too fast and is piling up a backlog of massive expenditures for the future.

Byrd, Virginia Democrat who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said that while some excise levies undoubtedly ought to be removed, the $4.8-billion tax reduction bill before his committee is too big at a time when he can find no comparable decline in spending.

"The administration claims it is cutting expenditures, but I can find no evidence of it," he told a reporter. "Instead it is adding to the deficit and bringing out many new programs that are going to call for massive spending increases next year."

Noting that the stock market took one of its worst declines of 1965 Tuesday, Byrd said he thinks William M. Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman, was on solid ground when he said last week that there are some similarities between the present situation and that of 1929 prior to the depression of the 30s.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, recalled for testimony today, told the Finance Committee Tuesday that while he wasn't an expert in this field the dissimilarities were greater than the similarities.

When Byrd pressed for an estimate on when the budget might be balanced, Fowler replied that it might be possible in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1966, but more likely a year later.

Fowler said the impact of proposed excise tax cuts in the fiscal year which begins July 1 would be only $600 million. He estimated that other revenues would increase so that the previous estimate of a $5.3-billion deficit for the year would be reduced to $4.3 billion.

Fowler said he based these estimates on a rising economy, revenue increases and strong action by the President and Congress to hold the spending line.

Byrd said this was fine, but didn't go far enough.

"We can't keep on having de-

Visiting Boaters Praise Winonans

Praise for the help given his party by two Winonans — one of them the mayor — was expressed in a letter written to the Winona Chamber of Commerce by an Iowa businessman.

Robert D. Arnold, manager of an Ottumwa, Iowa, securities firm, said in the letter that he and a group of friends spent last week-end on the Mississippi in this area. They ran out of fuel, Arnold said, and "were in desperate need" because no marinas were open at the time.

"Two of your distinguished citizens, Mayor Rudy Ellings and Mr. Al Kertzman, spent a great deal of time and energy in getting us back in shape so that we could continue to enjoy our vacation," Arnold wrote.

"While Mr. Kertzman worked to get our motor out of the water, Mr. Ellings drove us to service stations and stores for necessary supplies.

"People, of course, make a town what it is. Winona should be proud to have such good-will ambassadors as Mr. Ellings and Mr. Kertzman."

Arnold said, "Some time we have to begin to reduce the debt."

Byrd gave these examples to bolster his view that rather than taking steps to hold expenditures in line, both the President and Congress are acting to boost them.

President Johnson's request for antipoverty program outlays was nearly doubled for the new fiscal year, from $800 million to $1.5 billion.

Congress added $150 million a year to the budget figure for a public works and economic development program to bring the total up to $3 billion for five years.

The President gave a go-ahead signal for this increase.

The President asked for $250 million for the higher education program which has not yet been approved by Congress. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., announced that the Senate Education and Labor Committee which he heads will double that amount.

A German study indicates that the noise of boiler factories, railroad stations and airports stunts the growth and weakens the hearts of nearby children.

Osseo Course To Enroll 110 Monday

OSSEO, Wis. (Special) — One hundred-ten students have enrolled for developmental reading and personal typing courses at Osseo School.

The 6-week course will begin Monday and continue through July 23. Classes will run from 9-11 a.m. daily.

The teachers engaged for developmental reading are: Mrs. Donald Barnes, grade 1; Mrs. James Tilly, grade 2; Mrs. Opal Johnson, grades 3-4; Mrs. Obert Goplin, grades 5-6, and Miss Irene Myers, grades 7-12. All are of Osseo except Mrs. Johnson, who will come from Blair.

Mrs. Eldora Brechlin, Osseo, will teach typing. Students are to provide their own transportation. Some parents in outlying areas arranged car pools last year. They must dress as during the normal year — shorts and other restraining items of clothing won't be permitted.

When school bells ring in Samoa, youngsters throng into open-air fales with shingled roofs and seat themselves cross-legged before television sets.

Vulcan Plant Discontinues Production

Vulcan Manufacturing Co. officials said today their plant is shut down temporarily for lack of operating capital and pending negotiations for possible sale to other owners.

Employees who reported for work Monday noon were sent home and production has been suspended. The company manufactures automotive service equipment.

Also involved is the Small Business Administration, which collaborated with Merchants National Bank last year in a $100,000 loan. Securing the loan were the company's equipment, part of its real estate, inventory and accounts receivable.

OFFICIALS conceded the SBA "has threatened to foreclose" but has not yet done so. Unpaid balance of the loan exceeds $80,000.

The company has a payroll of about 30 production employees.

Company officials said J. C. Ver Plank, Owatonna, manager and owner of controlling interest, hopes to reopen the plant within two weeks. They also said sale of the business has been discussed with at least two prospects, one of which would contemplate moving the plant to another city.

VULCAN WAS founded in 1937 in St. Paul and moved to Winona by its stockholders in 1942, beginning operations in April 1943. During World War II it made shell casings and other ordnance supplies for the armed forces. The plant is in the building that formerly housed the Foot Schulte & Co. shoe factory. When Vulcan acquired the building at 3rd and Wilson streets, it was unoccupied.

Ver Plank bought the interests of R. E. Lange, former president, and other stockholders to gain control in February 1964.

Chamber Group Considers Flood Control Proposals

Progress of its flood-control proposals was discussed at the Winona Chamber of Commerce manufacturers' division meeting Tuesday night, chairman William S. Lamb said today.

The group, which is seeking to have the industrial area along the city's riverfront east of Washington Street included in the city's flood-control program, has been told to work through city and state representatives, who could request that the Army Corps of Engineers study the proposal.

In addition, the chamber as a whole has asked the City Council to work for the same end.

Also discussed Tuesday night, Lamb said, was the manufacturers' directory that the group is trying to compile. It would include detailed information about local industries, he said.

The chairman explained that such a directory would be useful not only to local firms, but to firms that might be considering moving to Winona. They could learn what processes and services are available here, he pointed out.

Pump Continues At Lake Winona

Pumping at the Lake Winona outlet continued today as river levels again crept upward. Gates at the outlet have been opened only one day since late March when they were closed to keep the lake from flooding.

City engineering and street department personnel opened gates and discontinued pumping Thursday, but closed them again Friday.

The 20-inch pump at the Mankato Avenue - Sarnin Street intersection is one of the few remaining visible evidences of the city's highly-mechanized fight to protect itself from flooding. It was secured and mounted by A. J. Kertzman, Lamelle dredging contractor.

Large WHS Graduating Class Looks to Future

The largest class ever to be graduated from Winona Senior High School Tuesday night recalled the lessons of the past, acknowledged the problems of the present and accepted the challenge of the future at 95th annual commencement exercises at Jefferson Stadium.

In a near cloudless twilight of the second outdoor graduation program to be conducted here, 338 members of the class of 1965 received diplomas from Ray Gorsuch, 1st Ward director on the Winona Board of Education, whose daughter was an honor student in this year's graduating class.

Commencement speakers were four graduating seniors who considered how moral ethics, education, society and cultural environment will have their impact on the graduates' new roles in a changing world.

A list of graduating seniors and names of scholars honor students are found on page 12.

THE SPEAKERS were introduced by Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson and Senior High Principal Robert H. Smith presented the class for awards of diplomas by Gorsuch.

Presentation of diplomas customarily is made by the president of the school board — this year Lawrence Santelman — but it has been traditional when a school director has a son or daughter among the graduates for him to make the awards.

Prior to the presentation of diplomas, senior class president John Durley made the announcement of this year's class memorial, a portable lectern with built-in speaker. Seniors who gave the commencement addresses were John Schramm, Carolyn McCown, Marjorie Beckman and Margaret McGrath.

The invocation and benediction were pronounced by the Rev. Ray Cheshire, Lakeside Evangelical Free Church.

MARJORIE BECKMAN was organist for the ceremonies and there was music by the Senior High band directed by Robert Andrus and the chorus, directed by Meryl Nichols.

Topics for the student speakers were "The Conquest of Inner Space," "The Wall That Divides," "Like the Builder" and "Not By Bread Alone."

John Schramm spoke on "The Conquest of Inner Space" and, recalling the three years the graduating class has spent in high school, commented, "Perhaps nothing has been as unmisgiving as the air of change which seemed to characterize life for all of us. There is not one of us who has not been touched by the changing times."

"Yet it is my fear that some things may be slipping away in a cloud of change . . . It has become increasingly evident that moral-ethical values are on the decline, which change is making itself felt as a threat to America as real as that of Viet Nam."

He cited a rising crime rate, ruptures in family relationships, racial problems and evidence that "Relative ethics have failed to solve the problem of the unscrupulous individual reaping personal gain at the expense of all who stand in his way. The once predominant themes of freedom, justice and equality, as well as the basic moral laws, have become obscure even to some legislators who find it difficult to stay within the confines of the ethical."

SCHRAMM ASSERTED that America needs "a body of people solid in its conviction of moral truth. There is no need for those who are vague on the outside while vague on the inside."

If there ever was a time when the world was more turbulent and "more desperately needed, not only the responsible guidance of its adults, but the steadfastness of purpose of its youth," said Schramm, "I have yet to hear of it."

"The hope of America lies in the determination of its people — for Berlin, Cuba and Viet Nam will ultimately be resolved by the people with the determination — and in the personal conviction of the individual lies the national determination. Personal conviction, to be lasting, must be based on spiritual truth as it, alone, remains unchanged through the ages. In a materialistic world, where often greatness is measured in monetary units, one must remember that man is a spiritual being and anything of lasting worth has to be accomplished in the realm of the spiritual."

IN DISCUSSING "The Wall of Despair," Carolyn McCown emphasized the need for effective communication to achieve understanding among people.

"Because of personal ignorance," she observed, "man through the ages has been unable to communicate with his neighbor. This lack of communication, this lack of understanding, has brought untold suffering on mankind. Perhaps we may even say that lack of true personal communication is the basic reason for the petty injustice and hatred and wars which torment this planet of ours."

Turning to her fellow classmates, she said, "It lies before us, the youth of today, the leaders of tomorrow, to break down this wall of misunderstanding, this wall that destroys, and to construct in its stead a fortress of true communication, understanding and love."

"With such an advantage as we have been given through our American education," she concluded, "this should then be our goal: To conquer the heart and mind of man in the name of personal communication and universal understanding and love."

THE "NEW AND exciting challenges" facing graduates in the social world were explored by Marjorie Beckman in her address, "Like the Builder."

"In order to meet the challenges of the social world," she explained, "we will need to adjust to changes. In the next few years we will undergo many such changes within ourselves as a result of our experiences. Our attitudes, beliefs and values will change — some more noticeably than others."

"We will cope with these changes in different ways because we will be pursuing different goals. Within a year after graduation the majority of this class will have begun their pursuit of life goals through involvement in at least one of three areas — education, labor and marriage."

Those who continue in education, she said, will find they must be more willing to accept authority of instructors because they'll realize the value of learning from adult instruction. Graduates entering new occupations must make adjustments to employer-employee relationships and "working alongside other employees will provide them with new and satisfying relationships."

Those who marry will be expected to take the reins of leadership and act as adults. Their responsibilities will be greater than they ever imagined because in their hands will be the potential of the next generation."

She told members of her class that "if we can become successful in our individual fields and adjust to social changes we will be on our way to conquer society. While accepting change we must be careful not to discard religious principles because these don't change."

"Finally, we must accept the responsibility of guiding the generation that will follow us so that they can avoid our mistakes and further the advancement of civilization."

The final speaker, Margaret McGrath, drew her address from the phrase "Not By Bread Alone."

She analyzed the interplay of religion, education, society and culture in the shaping of the whole person.

"TO DEFINE culture in a visual sense," she said, "one might compare the entire picture to a rose bush. The stem, with its roots anchoring it firmly in the ground, is religion. The leaf, the food factory of the plant, is education. The flower, the ultimate reason for its existence, is society. But where would the stem, the leaf, the flower be if there were no soil? The soil is culture — the nourishing strength of all life."

Members of the graduating class, she continued, "have had a glimpse into the meaning of culture. We also know that times change and modifies religious mores, educational practices and society itself. Now we may ask, 'How does culture change?'"

"Culture does not change. It is the great force surrounding us, running strong and true, producing the fruits of the mind, enriching our civilization. Without culture we are dead."

On graduation night, she concluded, "We have said many things about the worlds we live in — religion, education, culture and society. Let us, Class of 1965, accept this as our challenge: To preserve, improve, respect and love these, our worlds. In accepting this challenge let us remember how necessary it is for us to have more than the bread in our lives — the physical things — and how we must have culture with all of the beauty it will bring to us."

Officers of this year's graduating class were, in addition to Durley, Patrick Ellis, vice president; Jane Sheets, treasurer, and Candace Meyer, secretary.

Announcement was made on the commencement program of winners of scholarships and awards made to seniors for scholastic achievement, service and extracurricular activities.

Commissioners Reassure City Council on 5th Street

By GEORGE MCCORMICK
Daily News Staff Writer

It still intends to go ahead with reconstruction of West 5th Street as soon as possible, the Winona County Board of Commissioners assured a Winona City Council delegation Tuesday.

The board — acting on the recommendation of Gordon M. Fay, county highway engineer, and James Baird, Winona's city engineer — has decided Monday to postpone the work until money from the state's newly-established "turnback" fund would become available.

This fund provides increased state aid specifically for former trunk highways now turned back to city or county control. Fay and Baird had earlier suggested that the West 5th Street project be delayed a year, until rules and regulations for distribution of the turnback money have been established. They had pointed out that if regular state aid money is spent for improvement of turned-back roads, money from the new fund will not be available as compensation for these past projects.

ACCORDING to Harold Briesath, city council president and 1st Ward alderman, the council's spokesman Tuesday, the city wanted some assurance from the county that it would give priority to the West 5th Street project a year from now.

How is the city to know, Briesath asked, that the county will not spend the turnback money elsewhere when it becomes available?

Fay pointed out that the state would determine priority, but that any money allocated to Winona County would have to be spent somewhere along the route of old Trunk Highway 61 — it is now the only turned-back highway in the county. Money from the new fund would have to be spent on a project involving it, he explained.

The commissioners noted that they had already declared their intention to cooperate with the city on this project.

Briesath said the council began to wonder about this when it received a letter from Fay, pointing out that the city and county have not yet made definite plans for sharing the costs of the project.

FAY EXPLAINED Tuesday, however, that he had meant only that there are no item-by-item cost-sharing plans in existence now; he did not mean that there was no general agreement to cooperate in the work.

In addition to Briesath, the council delegation comprised James Stoltman, 4th Ward; David Johnston, 1st Ward; and Neil Sawyer, 2nd Ward, as well as Baird.

As the group left, Commissioner Len J. Merchlewitz, Winona, asked if the board and the council could meet soon to discuss the possibility of constructing a joint city-county building to replace the present courthouse and city hall.

Briesath said he would let the commissioners know when the two groups could meet.

The board passed two resolutions dealing with highways after the council group left.

One authorizes the state commissioner of highways to let contracts for work on CSAH 6 from CSAH 8 at New Hartford to a point 1.13 miles southeastward.

THE OTHER authorizes and requests the commissioner to take steps necessary to have CSAH 30 and CSAH 37 approved as federal aid roads. The projects involved would extend on CSAH 30 from a point half a mile west of TH 74 to CSAH 31 (3.05 miles) and on CSAH 37 from a point 2 of a mile south of its intersection with County Road 112 to a point 3 of a mile north to CR 112 (1 mile).

The board awarded a contract for work on CSAH 6 near Clyde to Quarve & Anderson Co., Rochester, whose bid of $48,194.98 was low at Tuesday morning's letting.

It authorized County Auditor Richard Schoonover to advertise for bids on a project on CSAH 6 near Troy.

County Board Visitors Delay Session Closing

The Winona County Board of Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday to conclude one of its longest meetings in recent months.

Usually, the board convenes Monday afternoon and finishes its business by 5 p.m. Tuesday. This time, however, a steady parade of visiting delegations took up most of Tuesday afternoon and forced a postponement of some routine matters.

The group started its Tuesday afternoon session by talking with George Hass, county weed and seed inspector, and Sig Bjerken, a supervisor for the state agriculture department's weed control section.

They talked about what the board had discussed with Hass alone Monday afternoon — what to do about leafy spurge on the Carl Schultz farm in Winona Township. They reached the same conclusion as was reached Monday: Aerial spraying was not practical there.

THE BOARD'S second visitor was Roger J. Czerniak, St. Louis Park, a salesman for Bell & Howell Co., who was here to try to sell the county his firm's microfilming equipment.

Processing of the film, unlike that of other companies that have approached the board in recent months, is done at Bell & Howell's Twin Cities headquarters, Czerniak told the commissioners.

The basic equipment needed, a reader-printer, would cost either $2,541 or $923, depending on the model selected. He gave no price for the equipment needed to photograph the documents in the first place.

The next group of visitors came from Winona County Historical Society. Attorney Robert Hull was the spokesman for the group. He presented the society's budget for 1965-66 and asked for a donation of $5,858.70 — the difference between the organization's anticipated revenue and its proposed expenditures.

LAST YEAR, the county gave the group a total of $2,500. The board postponed a decision on this year's request until its Thursday morning session.

Next, the board heard from Wilbur Batzel, Altura farmer, who proposed selling the county land it will soon need for continuation of a road improvement project on County State Aid Highway 26 between Altura and Elba.

About 1.5 acres are involved, and Batzel offered the board the land for $1,500. Selling it now, he said, will enable him to make other provisions for his farm buildings.

If the county fails to buy the land now, however, the buildings will have to be set on firm foundations on the parcel of land, and this, Gordon M. Fay, county highway engineer, pointed out, would mean that the county would have to pay more to acquire the land later.

S. A. Sawyer, county attorney, will see about getting a clear title to the land. If such a title is available, the board indicated, the county will buy the land now at Batzel's price.

The final two groups to meet with the board Tuesday afternoon were part of the city council and 15 Prairie Island residents, along with the latter group's attorneys, Martin Beatty and Duane Peterson.

Prairie Islanders' Plea Wins County Support

Moral support for a group of Prairie Island residents trying to fight city hall — and then some — was pledged by the Winona County Board of Commissioners Tuesday.

The residents are trying to convince the Winona City Council and the Army Corps of Engineers to build the Prairie Island flood-control dike along the riverfront instead of along the road. This change would protect their homes instead of leaving them in the river's flood plain, they contend.

Fifteen of the residents were at Tuesday's board meeting, with their attorneys, Duane Peterson and Martin Beatty, acting as their spokesmen.

Beatty said he had a petition signed by all the residents of the Island, asking for the change in the dike's location. He said the change had been supported by the board of Winona Township.

Members of the board were present at the meeting Tuesday, and they voiced support for the Prairie Island group's efforts.

Beatty and Peterson contended that the original plan for the dike called for it to be built along the riverfront in the area in which the homes of the Island residents stand.

This, they maintained, was part of the plan approved by Congress. No other plan has ever been approved, they said.

The plan was not changed, Peterson said, until April 1963. The city council then said that Island residents had protested construction of the dike between their homes and the river.

Beatty argued, however, that there had never been a public hearing at which the feelings of the Island residents could have been determined. Ownership of many of the properties has changed, too, he said.

Moreover, he asserted, the picture has changed since the dike was first proposed. No one could have anticipated this spring's record flood, he said. The result of the flood was that 12 of the 18 houses on the Island had water on their first-floor levels.

If this continues, he said, the valuations of the homes (currently $45,220 full and true value — one-third of market value) would drop and the county's tax base would be affected.

Putting the dike along the riverfront can be done at no additional cost, Peterson contended, because putting it there was included in the original plan for the project — the only plan, he repeated, for which Congress has appropriated money.

The board agreed to have County Attorney S. A. Sawyer draw up a resolution giving moral support to the Islanders' request — but carefully avoiding any financial obligation on the county's part. It will be adopted when the board reconvenes Thursday morning.

O. C. Rhoades, one of the residents of the Island, had appeared before the board with a more general plea for support last year. He was present Tuesday.

Flood Donations Total Rising

A $5 donation from Central Junior High School's Homeroom 207J and its teacher, James Miller, has brought the City of Winona Flood Control Fund's total to $14,883.40.

Miller, in a letter sent along with the gift, explained that each student in the room saved a small amount each month. The total was to be used for spending money at the room's picnic.

This year, however, the students decided to give part of their savings to the city as "a token of appreciation," Miller said.

"These boys and girls have again given me proof that Winona can be proud of the teenagers of the city," he declared.

The students gave $2; Miller added $3.

Night Regatta Planned For Steamboat Days

This year's Steamboat Days regatta will be held on a Saturday night instead of a Sunday, chairman Donald Aehling said today.

The boats will begin parading past Levee Park at 6:30 p.m. July 10, before the Saturday-night stage show, Aehling said.

Dennis Day, who will later appear in the stage show, will be grand marshal of the regatta, and he will ride past the park in Russa Rossi's boat. Also riding one of the boats will be the new Miss Winona and her attendants.

Sixteen trophies will be awarded to winners in four classes of entries, Aehling said. The classes are runabouts, pontoon boats, houseboats and cruisers.

In addition, the chairman said, a traveling trophy will be awarded to the boat club that has the greatest percentage of its members entered in the regatta.

Deadline for submitting registrations for the event is Tuesday. Instructions will be mailed to entrants July 2.

Competition is being encouraged this year, and any firms wishing to enter advertising floats may do so, Aehling said.

Aehling and John Woodworth are planning a water stunt, new to this area, as part of the regatta.

James Goetz will be master of ceremonies for the event.

Russia Lacks Chewing Gum

By EARL WILSON

MOSCOW — "Chewing gum . . . chewing gum . . . chewing gum . . . you give me chewing gum . . . please."

Russian teen-agers waited for us outside the Kremlin, outside Lenin's tomb, begging ignominiously for chewing gum . . . which the Russians have never invented . . . for fountain pen, for American money.

But had as that was, and it did seem sad to us, they were not wearing Beatle haircuts nor running screaming after the Beatles. The Beatle records and the Beatles are very little known here. The Beatles and their bosses like money and if they could get any here for an appearance in Russia they probably couldn't get it out of the country.

Under the new two "K & B" — Korygin and Breshnev — the teen-agers are learning so much about capitalism with the surge of tourism, that some observers believe the new generation will go right instead of further left . . . perhaps wishful thinking.

But if they like our clothes . . . our movies . . . our freedom . . . why not?

Still, there are some Russians very stiff toward us and our modern conveniences. An In-tourist guide was pointing out to us that the new Russian Hotel, to be finished in a couple of years, could accommodate 6,000.

"Will it have a swimming pool?" asked a Californian.

"No," replied the girl guide, crossly, "but it will have a concert hall."

RUSSIA HAS practically no prostitution.

And those girls rumored to be prostitutes are suspected of being "security girls" — spies — trying to find out what their customers are really trying to do in the Soviet.

Though prices are high on candy (60 cents for a chocolate bar) and fruit (40 cents for an orange), I didn't find them guilty of overcharging as in Paris.

At the fancy Georgian restaurant, the Aragvy, four of us had chicken Kiev and vodka, with music up on the balcony, and my bill was — I thought — $19. But the waiter insisted it was only $12.

My six-minute phone call to New York, which I thought would cost $24 actually cost only $16.

EACH HOTEL room now has a dial phone and you can make an outgoing call simply and easily.

Flood Aftermath

All along the Mississippi where the high water of the flood still lingers, overflowing vast areas of bottomlands, partially forested, one will see people fishing. Coming back from the retriever trials the other day we saw dozens of people fishing where no one ever fished before. One group wore hip boots and was right in the center of a meadow, where normally a farmer might be expected to be cutting hay in June.

"What were they catching?" The above picture gives the answer, in part. These three boys are mighty proud of their string of carp and buffalo, all they could carry. They got them, according to a note from Merritt Kelley who took the picture, on the golf driving range along U. S. Highway 14-61 just east of Winona. The boys left to right are, William and Keith Welfenbach, 564 E. Bellevue Street and Don McCauley, 469 Zumbro St.

It is interesting to get other observations on what the flood did to fishing. Here are a few paragraphs from Tom Guyant, outdoor writer for The Milwaukee Journal, describing a trip to the Big River:

"I came to the Mississippi River last week to learn what damage the flood had done to the river's wildlife — its fish and ducks, deer, squirrels, muskrats, the huge variety of beings that dwell here before the waters rose.

"I drove down from the steep bluffs at Alma, Wis., and when I left the river at Cassville three days later I witnessed

A Million Dollars to Relieve Itch of Piles

It is estimated that over a million dollars a year is spent on varied remedies to relieve itch of piles. Yet drug prices tell you that nothing, not even PETERSON'S OINTMENT, soothes pile itching as much as PETERSON'S OINTMENT. PETERSON'S OINTMENT gives fast, joyful relief from itching, no delighted or money back.

what was perhaps the best fishing of any spring in decades.

"The water was still high. Herons waded where corn once grew. But the fishing was good and as the water drops, it will likely get even better."

Base Camp Improvements

We had not fished out of Bass Camp, below the Whitman dam, this year, so we stopped there the other day. One would not know the area now. Last fall U. S. Highway 61 contractors filled in the whole location, made a new safe entrance, and built a new high fill between the tracks and the river covering a couple of sloughs. It made quite a change in the appearance of Bass Camp.

The high water this spring did not do much damage to the development. It overflowed the area, but the river dam broke the current and reduced the washing. From the opening of the fishing season, Bob Rolbeck, manager of the camp, has been renting boats but has not been able to put the fishing barge on the Wisconsin side of the river in operation. The dam gates open there have caused too much current to use it.

However, fishermen have been catching walleyes off the new fill adjoining the dam on the Minnesota side. Bob tells us that he plans to build a dozen fishing cottages this year, they're for rent. Right now, Kesselhorst in the hot spot below the Whitman dam.

River Reports

With the change in temperature and the clearing of the weather, fishing was back to par Monday and Tuesday evenings. Boat fishermen have been finding new holes, some of them have been below the old wing dams, but because of the high water, not fished, and others apparently have been dug out by the flood. They have been getting good walleyes and some bass.

Panfish are mainly in the enlarged backwaters, occasionally a big one is taken in the main river, but nothing like other years when a normal river prevailed. A fisherman has to find them.

Democrats in Badger Assembly Have Tax Plan

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Democrats in the Assembly poised to tear apart a Senate Republican budget — tax bill — have announced they will take up the combined proposal Thursday.

The Senate package plan, approved last week by a 17-16 margin, calls for spending $809.3 million in the 1965-66 biennium and raising $76.3 million in new taxes.

Assembly Democrats, who hold a narrow 52-48 majority, already have announced their strategy when the bill comes up for debate. They first intend to separate the tax provisions for the budget. Then they plan to substitute the $825 million spending level recommended by the Democratic-controlled Joint Finance Committee.

The Assembly's expected action will lead to a conference committee after the Senate refuses to concur in the Democratic version.

Republicans in the Assembly tried Tuesday to have the package bill considered immediately, but Democrats overrode the motion.

The Senate, settling down to the routine business that accumulated during the two week period it debated the budget-tax proposal, approved and sent to the governor a bill changing Wisconsin's constitutional definition of an illegal lottery.

The vote on the measure was 30-1, with only Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, opposing it.

The proposal was to implement a decision by the voters in a spring referendum to change the Constitution to allow state residents to participate in those sweepstakes contests that do not require a purchase to enter.

The Assembly received a proposal that would allow the state to exceed the present $100,000 debt limit for the construction of state buildings. Under terms of the measure, the constitution would be amended to permit a direct borrowing procedure.

The constitutional maximum now is circumvented by borrowing through building corporations.

The new proposal would establish a maximum debt of 2 1/2 percent of the equalized general property valuation, placing the limit at $788 million.

The Senate also approved a resolution that would establish April 15 as Free Enterprise Day in Wisconsin.

Bob Kennedy Plans Salmon River Trip

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Jim Whittaker, who conquered a Canadian mountain together earlier this year, will make a raft trip down the Salmon River in Idaho, Mrs. Whittaker said Tuesday.

She said Kennedy, his wife and their four oldest children will meet the Whittakers and their two sons in Boise, Idaho, June 26.

The two families will proceed to the headwaters of the Salmon and begin a five-day raft journey.

Russ Hail Van Cliburn

MOSCOW (AP)—American pianist Van Cliburn received one of the most exuberant ovations heard in Moscow in years on his return to the concert stage Tuesday night.

He was showered with flowers and applause by a near-hysterical crowd of Russian admirers. Moscow police set up barriers outside the great hall of the Moscow Conservatory to control crowds that blocked traffic.

Cliburn captivated Russians with his music competition victory in Moscow in 1958.

Dominicans To Release 3 Captive Yanks

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican rebels said they would release three captive American soldiers today to the Organization of American States.

The three Americans, captured when they drove into rebel territory Tuesday by mistake, were Lt. Henry Cephus Leforce, 24, of Nash, Okla.; Spec. 4 Alton P. Blakely, 21, of Richmond, Calif.; and Pfc. Nelson Belengeri, 21, a Peruvian citizen whose uncle lives in Belleville, Ill.

Leforce told newsmen they were on their way to investigate a claim that an American truck had been damaged when they wandered into rebel territory.

"I assumed there would be a sign telling us when the international zone ended," Leforce said. "But when we had gone two blocks, a jeep with a 50-caliber machine gun mounted on it pulled out of a side street and stopped us. There was not much we could do."

The rebels customarily release American troops who wander into the rebel sector of downtown Santo Domingo.

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, the rebel leader, rejected proposals for an interim government which he said had been brought to Santo Domingo by an OAS mediating team that arrived June 4.

"We have gone through 45 days of pain and blood," said Caamano in a broadcast. "Those who think that time can weaken us are wrong."

A member of exiled President Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party told a news conference there eventually will be a Communist revolution in the Dominican Republic unless the 1963 constitution is restored.

Jose Francisco Pena Gomez said his party had political control of the rebel movement while Caamano had "military and economic" control. The 1963 constitution was scrapped when the military ousted Bosch the same year.

Russ Silent On Progress Of Moon Flight

MOSCOW (AP)—Luna 6 apparently sped on toward the moon today with Soviet officials maintaining silence on both the progress and the goals of the unmanned space satellite.

Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory said its giant radio telescope picked up strong signals from the Soviet moon probe Tuesday night.

Morning newspapers in Moscow carried only the original announcement of the launch Tuesday. There was no further information on the distance the automatic space station has traveled from the earth or whether it is still close the planned flight trajectory.

The satellite, believed to be the second Soviet attempt in a month to try a soft landing on the moon, is expected to reach the lunar surface Friday night.

Soviet officials may not announce the purpose of the flight until they are sure Luna 6 will hit the moon or until after the landing.

In the previous attempt by Luna 5, the Soviets announced about 20 hours before the satellite was due to hit the moon that it would attempt a soft landing. It was the first time they had called a shot in advance.

The soft landing failed and Luna 5 crashed into the moon on May 12.

A soft landing could produce better photographs of the moon's surface than previous moon shots which crashed into it. The satellite's radio system would function even after it had landed and it could also radio back information on the composition of the moon's surface.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

MacGregor May Oppose Rolvaag

By ADOLPH JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Some of those watching and waiting to see what Rep. Clark MacGregor, Minnesota's 3rd District congressman, will do in 1966 are now willing to guess that he'll run for governor.

The other choices are seeking re-election for a fourth term in the House and running for the U.S. Senate.

The guess is that the time has arrived when he must make a statewide race to retain his high standing in the Republican party.

And further guessing seems to be that he may find the race for the governorship more attractive than contesting for the Senate seat, partly because the voters may feel that Walter Mondale, who was appointed to the Senate to replace Vice President Hubert Humphrey, deserves a chance at a full term.

Debate will go on for a long time about the 1965 Minnesota Legislature. Some will argue that it was a successful session, others that it was a failure; some that Gov. Karl Rolvaag got a good deal of his program through, others that his advocacy played little part in what was accomplished.

Among those who put the session down as less than a success, there are those who blame what they described as a divided House leadership.

In the Senate, they will tell you, a group not too strongly allied with a party held a firm rein.

In the House, they say, a kind of coalition composed again of one group not too closely allied with party and a Republican-oriented young group was in charge. Neither group was strong enough to run the show alone and the result was a number of compromises not satisfactory to either and not calculated to give the session a high rating.

Don't look for the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party to come up with and push a reapportionment plan in these next weeks as efforts are made to achieve a compromise so that a special session can be called to write it into law.

DFL leaders realize that if a plan comes out with their label it will have at least two strikes against it in a legislature controlled by Conservatives.

Instead the DFLs and Liberals in the Legislature may be expected to wait for the Conservatives to come up with a plan, and then seek to make changes.

The governor indicated in his veto message on the reapportionment bill the legislature sent him that the Sinclair - Rosenmeier bill introduced in the Senate would be a good starting point.

Compelling Argument For U.S. 61 Improvement

ONE OF THE MORE compelling arguments for the improvement of U.S. Highway 61 from Minnesota City to Hastings is a special report on the scenic Great River Road, as this important highway is known, by the Minnesota Outdoor Recreation Resources Commission.

This was the group set up by the 1963 Legislature to analyze the state's recreational resources and opportunities and to recommend development policies looking ahead to the year 2000.

"This scenic route through the Hiawatha Valley," says the report in its introduction, "offers an important avenue for channeling recreational traffic into the heartlands of Minnesota. In light of the potential stimulus such traffic can provide for the economy of our state, coordination of the programs and development plans of all agencies providing facilities along the route... including the development plans for the highway itself, is imperative if the Great River Road is to achieve this goal."

MORRIS PROJECTIONS on future travel are startling. Where 241,000 travelers crossed Minnesota from east to west in 1963, it says, 530,000 will cross in 1978 and 960,000 in the year 2000. Where the south-north travel from central U.S.A. through Minnesota to Canada was 153,000 persons in 1963, 216,000 will make the trip in 1978 and 380,000 in 2000. Closer to home, the MORRIS study predicts that U.S. 61 traffic between Wabasha and Red Wing will rise from a daily average of 3,050 cars in 1962 to 4,300 in 1975 and 5,980 in 1990.

This MORRIS report on the Great River Road makes other recommendations besides faster highway reconstruction. It urges priority for Minnesota Memorial Hardwood State Forest land acquisitions along the Great River Road route. It recommends "prime consideration" in all spending decisions for park development, scenic easements, historic sites, recreational areas and waysides along the Great River Road. It urges all levels of government — and this recommendation points squarely to Winona County — to step up their recreational planning along the Great River Road so that private enterprise will be encouraged to proceed with needed development to interest vacationers.

THE COMMISSION'S look at the Great River Road, and its recommendation, is a clear signal that Minnesota's total statewide interest will best be served if U.S. 61 reconstruction through the Hiawatha Valley is speeded up — beginning this year.

Early Bird Will Help Unite Mankind

NO ONE WHO WATCHED that first Early Bird television broadcast, in which events as diverse as a heart operation in Texas and a May festival in Germany were shown in quick sequence, could doubt that here was a marvelous advance in the science of communication. Potentially, the broadcast heralded an even greater advance in an art that depends on this science — the art of making diverse peoples aware that in the most vital matters affecting the welfare of humanity they are all of one kind.

To put it in another way, the broadcast was a reminder that we are indeed all brothers under the skin. And when the Early Bird system is expanded to take in Asia and Africa as well as Europe and America, the reminder will have even greater impact. For it is going to become increasingly evident that men and women and children in all parts of the world are, in most essentials, alike. The concept that each nation and ethnic group must forever go its own way, on guard against others and hostile to unifying change, will become less and less credible.

No one supposes that everything relayed across continents and oceans by the Early Bird satellite will be dedicated to this noble end. Much that is trivial, and doubtless some that is just plain awful, will doubtless be transmitted both ways by this electronic marvel.

YET EVEN TRIVIAL and bad programs may, however unintentionally, enforce the feeling of universal kinship. Spot coverage of news events in all parts of the world should heighten that feeling. Early Bird and its successors — for there is no doubt that this is only a beginning — will do much, hopefully, to unite mankind.

And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose. — Romans 8:28.

Court Curbing Talk Subsidies

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court handed down some historic decisions in the 1964-65 term ending Monday but escaped the torrential abuse of other years for a simple reason.

It did not poke around much in the highly sensitive fields of religion and politics. Thus, with no new logs on the fire, all the talk of curbing the court or undoing its decisions once more got nowhere.

Again this court, as it has since Chief Justice Earl Warren took his seat in 1954, continued to broaden its protection of individual rights and liberties. Yet, the range of its work was wide.

HERE WERE SOME of its most memorable actions:

In the first test of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the court upheld the public-accommodations section requiring restaurants and motels to serve all races if the restaurants' customers or food move in interstate commerce.

Two years ago the court, extending constitutional protections to state criminal trials, said a defendant had a right to an attorney in all key stages of the proceedings.

This year the court extended this by ruling a defendant in such a trial had a right to face and question witnesses against him.

THE COURT barred state judges and prosecutors from commenting to juries if a defendant — exercising his constitutional right to say nothing — refused to take the stand in his own defense.

But the court also decided a defendant's constitutional right to trial by jury does not include the right to demand a trial without jury in a criminal case when either the prosecutor or judge does not agree.

One of the most sensational decisions came Monday when the court threw out the conviction of Billie Sol Estes on a Texas swindling charge because his trial was televised.

"A defendant on trial for a specific crime," the court said, "is entitled to his day in court, not in a stadium or a city or a nationwide arena. Trial by television is therefore foreign to our system."

BUT SOME JUSTICES indicated this is not the last word on televised trials.

And the court in effect upheld the California Supreme Court in overturning the conviction of a convict, who stabbed a fellow-prisoner to death, because the confession used against him was taken by officers who did not advise him of his right to an attorney and his right to stay silent.

In 1962 and 1964 the court created a political revolution by its reapportionment decisions which said election to the U.S. House of Representatives and both houses in a state legislature must be made more democratic by giving all voters an equal voice. The court didn't add to them this year. It just stood pat.

In 1962 AND 1963 THE court brought the roof down by barring official prayers in public schools and of a pledge of allegiance containing the words "under God."

And the court upheld the State Department in refusing a ski resort operator a passport to Cuba. He said his only reason for going was to be informed. The department says only those can go whose travel might serve this country's interest.

The court, voiding a Louisiana requirement that would be voters must satisfactorily interpret the U.S. or state constitutions, said this test was part of a plan to deprive Negroes of their right to vote. Louisiana has abandoned this requirement but other states have similar ones.

In the labor field the court said an employer may shut down his business for any reason — he might not want to deal with a union — but he may not shut down just a part of it to avoid dealing.

YET, THE COURT agreed unanimously that when an employer reaches a dead-end in negotiations with a union for a new contract, he can lock out the employees temporarily to put economic pressure on the union.

Further, the court ruled unconstitutional a federal law making it a crime for a Communist to serve as an official of a labor union; and it said unions forfeit their exemption from anti-trust laws if they conspire with certain employers to drive other employers out of business.

And — the court broadened the freedom of citizens to criticize public officials without penalty, saying statements made in ill will are not grounds for criminal libel unless made with "reckless disregard" for the truth.

Wright Patman Will Blast Federal Reserve

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Wright Patman, the congressman from Texarkana, Tex., will take off the gloves this week to lambast the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, William McChesney Martin, as an economic menace who is trying to undercut Johnson prosperity. Patman will urge that Martin be deposed as money king of the nation.

Patman, dean of Texas congressmen and chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, has been waging a battle against the Federal Reserve Board for some time. But what has aroused his current ire is Chairman Martin's speech last week pointing to "disturbing similarities" between the Johnson boom and the Coolidge bull market which led to the great depression. Next day the stock market had its lowest day of the year.

Rep. Patman has long claimed that the interest rate policies of the "fed" and of its chairman, Bill Martin, were what endangered the economy.

"THE AMERICAN people," says Patman, "will pay $75 billion in gross interest charges this year. Eleven of the $75 billion is for annual interest on the national debt. These charges are so high that, if the trend continues, the day will arrive when America cannot afford to spend money needed for its schools, or city and rural area renewal, for mass transit, recreation or reclamation and for old-age and veterans compensation. The more we must pay the money lenders the less we have to spend for our national well-being."

"Just since the Truman-Roosevelt era," Patman charges, "the bankers lobby — the American Bankers Association — has upped interest rates and thus forced the American people to add $40 billions unnecessarily to the public debt."

Patman's dramatic diagnosis of Federal Reserve policies and its chairman, Bill Martin, will be on a parallel to his historic speech of last August, "The ABC's of America's Money System."

ALERT Freshman Cong. James Scheuer, Democrat, and former builder who represents a large Puerto Rican - Negro population on the leeward island of Manhattan, has just written a penetrating minority report to the "Economic Opportunity 1965 Amendments." While not disagreeing with the dean of Texas congressmen, Wright Patman, nor agreeing with Chairman Martin, Scheuer does raise some red flags about job opportunities and the economy of the great society.

Scheuer points out that the half billion dollars which the government is spending on anti-poverty is only a drop in the bucket compared with the need for creating new jobs. Therefore it will be necessary to spend several billion on new schools, hospitals, highways, parks, playgrounds, if new jobs are to be available for the young army being trained under the anti-poverty program.

"In 1965, close to four million persons are without jobs," points out the congressman from Manhattan. "An additional 2½ million can find only part-time work, and an estimated one million more have been discouraged from looking for work."

"The impact falls hardest on teen-agers and Negroes. All teen-age unemployment averaged 14.7 percent in 1964. Negro teen-age unemployment was over 25 percent. White unemployment for all ages was 4.6 percent."

"THE DESPERATE situation of high school dropouts in the job market is well known," says Scheuer. "More important, an equally desperate situation will apparently face many of those two or three years from now, even after they are equipped with considerable skills."

The new congressman from Manhattan points to the tremendous population increase which will require nine million new jobs to be found during the next five years. Yet jobs increased at less than half that rate between 1947-64.

Scheuer has been conferring with Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., influential member of the House Public Works Committee, about a new public works program to help build the schools, libraries and hospitals necessary for the great society and which would give jobs to the young men now being trained under the anti-poverty program.

Headaches Can Be Prevented

By J. G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: For the last 10 years I have had a severe headache every year, starting in December and lasting until around April. It occurs almost every morning during this period.

I have had many examinations, including those by a neurologist. All proved negative. One doctor suggested histamine headache, so I received the full treatment of injections. However, the headache returned.

Later I found I had an ulcer forming in the duodenum and was told that my headache and the ulcer were both products of nervous tension. The ulcer has been cured but I still have my headache — severe pain over one eye, with tearing and a running nose. I am 29 — M.L.

I have an idea in your case. Two ideas, in fact. But I want to get one or two thoughts across before I give them to you:

First of all, headache isn't a disease. It is a symptom. There are tension headaches, toxic headaches, migraines, histamine headaches, hangovers and a lot of other varieties, and it isn't always easy to pin down the cause in some severe cases.

YET IT is gratifying to know how many of the severe, recurring headaches can be prevented or eased or made less frequent by taking the time and trouble to study them until the type becomes apparent.

To you, Mr. M.L., I will not suggest getting my booklet on "How to Tame Headaches." You've evidently been through the mill, and have learned about the many types and the ways different kinds must be treated to get effective results. (Others tortured by repeated blinding headaches should read the booklet: Send 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper for a copy, and it will tell you how to go about relieving such severe pain.)

Now back to your case, Mr. M.L. First, the tearing, the pain near one eye, and so on, strongly suggest a histamine headache. So does the occurrence in the morning. But there's significant sentence in your letter. You say you had "the full treatment of injections" but that the headaches returned.

THERE isn't any fixed "full treatment" that I know of. (It is a desensitization process.) The treatment depends on how much is necessary for a given patient. Like desensitization for hay fever, some people need more than others; some need treatment repeated at intervals.

Your comment, "However, the headache returned," indicates that it stopped for a time. But IF IT STOPPED, the logical course would be to repeat the desensitization process, perhaps several times.

My second, and considerably different, thought: The calendar may be significant. You get this headache in a certain season of the year: From winter through spring.

If, as seems likely, this is a histamine headache, what touches it off? What allergy? My first suspicion is a trace of carbon monoxide, from a flaw in the furnace or flue. Too much carbon monoxide is poison for anybody; however, a trace of it may bother some people but not others. Have you lived in the same place for as long as this headache has been afflicting you? If so, heed the clue.

Dear Doctor: I had an operation on my knee for osteochondritis dissecans of the medial

Need Men to Say No To Giveaway Schemes

To the Editor:

The Great Society must really be having a hard time spending our hard earned tax dollars, when they spend $20,367 to send 131 pre-school children to school.

I understood the money was voted to help children in depressed areas that didn't even have food, clothing and books to read.

I noticed by your paper Chatfield turned down the "Free" money for pre-school children.

It's time we got some men in Washington who can say "No" to the money giveaway schemes.

Mrs. Paul Plapp
Dakota, Minn.

condyle, and two pieces of loose bodies were removed. Will you explain the cause? — R.S.

It is a disorder involving the ends of bones and cartilage. A disturbance of circulation causes the area to disintegrate. A locked or "trick" knee results. (Or other joints, such as hip or ankle, can be involved instead.) The condition is fairly common in younger people, and often is related to some injury to the joint. The "loose bodies" that were removed were fragments of bone.

Dear Dr. Molner: You wrote that there is no cure for psoriasis, but I have read that a drug called methotrexate has done so. Have you heard of this? — B. C.

Yes, I have. Methotrexate has helped (but not cured) some patients who have been plagued by severe psoriasis over large parts of their bodies.

It is a very powerful drug, has to be used with great respect, and isn't — at the present state of knowledge about it — to be considered for use when (as so often is the case) a patient has only some small patches of psoriasis.

Psoriasis is a nuisance but not dangerous. Sometimes it goes away for no apparent reason. Sometimes it subsides when one or another of the various treatments is being used — at which point the patient may think that he knows the cure for psoriasis.

My advice to the average person with psoriasis is to have a doctor or skin specialist prescribe something to subdue the scalliness and itching (when it becomes bothersome) and otherwise to ignore it and hope that it will subside spontaneously some day.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done for a 13-year-old boy who has pulled out his eyelashes and eyebrows? Will they grow back or can something be done to help them grow? Do you think this action is the result of nerves? — T.F.N.

The hairs will grow back, but very slowly. What concerns me is why a boy would do this. Call it "nerves" if you choose, but if it's just nerves it's a pretty extreme case. Some psychiatric evaluation ought to be undertaken at once before his mixed up emotions get too much out of balance.

Father of 14 Getting Social Science Degree

NEW YORK (AP) — There were days in the Crowley household when some of the 14 children would come home from school troubled by an assignment.

The mother, Helene Crowley, would hear these words: "Ma, I can't do it."

"I don't know why you can't," she'd say. "Your father can do it."

Helene Crowley can hold up husband Steve as an example and an inspiration even though he is a high school dropout.

Steve Crowley—at age 42—will receive his Bachelor of Arts degree in social science from St. John's University Sunday.

Crowley, holder of the Purple Heart and veteran of six World War II battles, has been a New York City policeman for 14 years. He won a department scholarship to college and became eligible for admission by passing a high school equivalency test.

At St. John's, he completed the six-year evening class program in five years.

During those years, he worked a full schedule, sometimes 15 hours on a weekend to compensate for five hours off during the week.

"After the first year or so, I became accustomed to the routine," said Crowley, who has won seven commendations for police work.

Crowley gives a lot of credit to his wife, whom he met at a parish dance. She encouraged him to go to school, and wants him to continue his education.

"It was something he always wanted to do," said Mrs. Crowley. "I felt it was good for the children and himself."

The Crowleys have seven boys and seven girls, ranging in age from 7 months to 16 years. The oldest, Michael, is studying for the priesthood.

"The children's marks have greatly improved since he went to school," said Mrs. Crowley. "Frankly, it inspired them (the children) a little bit," said Crowley. "They could see that it was an effort. We pooled our resources at homework time. They'd help me with math; I'm pretty rusty. I helped them with English and composition and things."

Crowley plans to go to law school or graduate school.

"I hope to advance in the police department primarily," he said.

Fight on Three Diseases Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee has approved a bill which would create regional medical complexes to aid in the fight against heart disease, cancer and stroke.

The three diseases accounted for 1.2 million American deaths in 1963, or about 71 per cent of the total total.

The medical complexes would conduct demonstrations, training and research to assist physicians and communities by making the latest advances in care and treatment of the diseases available more readily.

The bill would authorize appropriation of $50 million for the coming fiscal year.

Field Service Scholarship Winner Due in Whitehall

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — The winner of one of the first two highly prized American Field Service scholarships ever awarded in Tokoroa, New Zealand, will arrive in Whitehall early in August to remain for a year.

Gary Harpur will be a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ausderau. Only 50 AFS scholarships are granted in New Zealand each year, and it is a rare occurrence that two go to the same school. Vivienne Davey also was chosen from Tokoroa to come to the U.S.

Gary and Vivienne both are prefects in their schools. Gary, 17, has received all his education in Tokoroa. When he completed primary school he became head prefect and won a Sir David Henry prize. This year for his university entrance he took English, history, geography, mathematics and chemistry.

GOP Wins in 2 Mississippi Mayor Races

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Jubilant Republican leaders looked confidently to the future today after GOP victories in mayor's races at Columbus and Hattiesburg — the first major municipal triumphs in Mississippi party history.

Former Democrats Paul E. Grady of Hattiesburg and R. D. Harmond of Columbus were the causes of the big Republican cheers.

Grady unseated Democratic Mayor Claude Pittman Jr., 2,438 votes to 1,836, while Harmond whipped Democratic Mayor William Propst 1,394 to 1,191 in Tuesday's municipal elections.

The GOP also won two alderman posts at Drew, two at D'Lo and one at Magee, and one council seat at Columbus. A Republican also captured a non-partisan aldermanic race at Hollandale.

Republican State Chairman Wirt Yerger Jr. called the triumphs "a history-making breakthrough — particularly significant because they were at the grassroots level, the greatest source of any party's strength."

Only four years ago, he said, there was not a single Republican municipal candidate in Mississippi and "I am awed by the progress we have made. The victories will have a tremendous impact on the progress of our state. They have paved the way for many future victories."

L. L. McAllister, a personally popular young Meridian businessman, won a special election for state representative in February 1963, to give the GOP morale a boost and its first legislative post.

Last fall, Barry Goldwater won the state for the Republicans for the first time since Gen. U.S. Grant and Reconstruction.

Snack Bar, Tables Planned for Steamer Wilkie

Plans are being made to add a refreshment facility to the top deck of the Steamer Wilkie, according to the current Winona Historical Society newsletter.

They call for installation of a snack bar in the calliope house and the placing of tables with umbrellas on the deck. The calliope would be moved to a spot before the pilot house, where it would be seen by visitors as they climb to the deck.

The society hopes to put these plans into effect in time for Steamboat Days, the newsletter says.

The Wilkie opened to visitors during May. Since then, it has been toured by several school groups, including three from Minneapolis high schools.

W. C. Emmert is in charge of the Wilkie museum. Assisting him this year are Miss Diane Mirachek, granddaughter of Capt. Anson Bell, who served aboard the steamer when it was an active riverboat, and Betty, Barbara and Norman Semling.

The society's museum in the Lumbermen's Building, 125 W. 5th St., was toured by 384 school children during May. Out-of-state visitors came from Wisconsin, North Carolina and Florida, according to Mrs. Marie Allen, receptionist at the museum.

Borrowed Car Demolished by Youthful Driver

A St. Charles youth was identified by sheriff's deputies as the driver of a car which was totally demolished in a one-car accident Tuesday night with the owner unaware that the youth had taken the car.

Timothy F. Oakins, 16, St. Charles, was driving a car owned by Curtis Henry, St. Charles, on County 26 at the Wabasha County line, 2 miles northwest of Elba, Tuesday at 9 p.m. when the accident occurred.

Oakins had been "given" the car by Henry's son, according to the sheriff's report. The youth was driving northwest on the county road at a high rate of speed, the report stated, when he lost control on a curve.

The car slid into the left ditch, went 60 to 70 feet in the ditch, rolled twice and came to rest on its top. Neither Oakins nor the two other youths in the car were injured.

The sheriff's report adds that Oakins has been repeatedly warned by St. Charles police not to drive — because he has no driver's license. Henry's four-door sedan was listed as totally demolished with damage to its right and left front, right and left sides, left rear and top.

Deputy John J. Schneider investigated.

Area Youth Killed In Tractor Upset

CHATFIELD, Minn. — A 14-year-old Chatfield area youth died under a tractor about 9 a.m. today.

Steven Anderson was driving an 8,000-pound tractor along a gravel road, following his father, Wesley Anderson, who was on another tractor, to do field work. Steven lost control, the tractor tipped, and a fender of the machine landed on his head, pinning him.

Dr. J. P. Nehring, Preston, Fillmore County coroner, said he died instantly of a massive skull fracture. Another tractor had to be brought to the scene to remove the machine under which he was pinned.

THE ACCIDENT happened about four miles northwest of the village of Fillmore, 20 miles northwest of Preston and 10 miles west of Chatfield. The Anderson farm is in Sumner Township. The tractor overturned on the road leading to the Mrs. Margaret Tuohy farm about five miles from the home place.

Survivors are: His parents, one brother, Marvin; six sisters, Linda, Susan, Karen, Cindy, Julie and Laurie, all young, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson, Chatfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Braun, Kellogg.

Rushford Host in July to 35 Field Service Students

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — A busload of 35 American Field Service students from 22 countries will arrive in Rushford July 2 for a three-day stay. While here the teenagers will be taken on a sightseeing tour, put on a talent show, participate in a quiz show with Rushford young people, see the Western Days rodeo at Spring Grove, and attended a farewell picnic July 4.

They are en route from a year as members of U.S. families attending local high schools in many communities. They will stop in Washington, D.C., where President Johnson will receive them to their own countries.

The AFS sponsored 2,904 students from 89 countries in more than 2,500 communities throughout the U.S. this school year. In turn, 1,000 Americans were sent abroad. Since the beginning of the international scholarship program in 1947, when 50 students from 10 European countries came to the U.S., more than 29,000 young people have received the scholarships.

An estimated 3,000 students from more than 60 countries will arrive in August for the next school year.

The end-of-stay bus trips are designed by AFS to introduce the students to communities and regions other than those where they lived the last year. The trips also give an estimated 100,000 Americans a chance to meet boys and girls from all over the world. A total of 74 buses is making two or three day stops in an average of six communities each.

The Rushford committee in charge of making arrangements for them here consists of John Karlson, chairman; Wendell Nordby, Ward Hoff, Mrs. Jerome Johnson, Alton Morken, Mrs. Wilton Heiden, Mrs. Earl Bunke and Mrs. Maynard Ukkestad.

Bees Swarm On Fender

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — When 75,000 bees alighted on the fender of a car at a truck terminal Tuesday, a secretary called Victor L. Franklin, the only beekeeper listed in the city telephone directory.

Franklin arrived with gloves, face mask and portable hives. As he swept the bees into a box with a brush, he delivered a running commentary for the crowd which had gathered:

"I've been getting a call about every 35 minutes. There are bees swarming all over town—in buildings, trees and cars. That's because there are not enough hollow trees here. Bees are attracted to hollow places. A hollow spot acts as a resonator, and that is what bees are after."

"No, they won't sting me. They sting only when they haven't had any honey or when they're riled up. As long as I don't move too swiftly, they won't get excited."

"This is about a 15-pound swarm, and there are about 5,000 bees to a pound so there are about 75,000 here. I'll put them out to swarm in orchards and fields."

"You can't kill bees because they are protected, just like geese and ducks. Bees are important to our national defense. Beeswax is the only material that can safely waterproof ammunition. These new plastic materials clog up gun barrels."

"The best treatment for a bee sting is baking soda and water." Franklin completed his task without a single sting.

Police Policy Council Topic At La Crescent

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special) —Plans for the opening of the new dump site and the question of full time police protection for the village were the main topics of discussion at the Monday meeting of the village council.

Members studied a composite of answers from 100 municipalities on full time police protection. Results showed that almost all communities own their own patrol cars and only a few lease them. Wages range from $310 to $618 a month and the amount of men employed ranged from one full time to 10 full or part time men. All but two had radio equipment and 90 percent of the municipalities, which were all equal to La Crescent in population, hired part-time help in addition to full-time police officers.

A petition with 172 signers was presented by Mrs. Glen Heberlein and Mrs. Robert Sandvick requesting the council to consider mosquito spraying for the village. Jerry Ping of Will Kill Pest Control Co. presented a cost estimate of this project. He said a fogging machine which uses a relatively small amount of insecticide and is lightweight and easily mounted would cost $790. The chemical needed for fogging is $66.55 a 55-gallon drum. Ping said that eight drums would complete the season.

Opposition to this fogging was voiced by Philip Gilderhus, a biologist with the U.S. Department of Fisheries. He said that no one really knew the affects of these poisons and that if it were used in such a slight quantity it would prove ineffective. The council voted 4-1 to deny the petition.

Farm Fire Takes Grain, Equipment

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — A granary and chicken coop burned on the Oscar M. Severson farm in Town of Dover Tuesday afternoon.

A neighbor, Gordon Loomis, who lives a quarter-mile south of the Severson farm, noticed smoke coming from the buildings about 4:15 p.m., went to the top of a small hill, and saw the entire roof on fire.

Loomis stopped John Bollinger, driving a Buffalo County truck, and they went to the Severson farm. They found no one at home.

Severson entered the burning granary to be sure no children were in it. Bollinger called Mondovi firemen, who arrived about 4:30. The two-story granary and attached one-story coop, about 30 feet square, burned to the ground.

There were 600 or 600 bushels of oats in the granary. An old walking plow, 10 horse harnesses, wheelbarrow and other farm items no longer in use, were in the coop, which wasn't being used for chickens. All were destroyed.

Severson said he carried some insurance. His place, about 7½ miles east of Gilmanston and 11 miles south of Mondovi, has been in the family since his grandfather, S. T. Severson, settled it over 70 years ago. Oscar's father, Lee, farmed it before him. He knew of no cause for the fire.

The building stood at the south end of the property. Neither house nor barn was endangered since winds were from the north.

Tug-of-War Tourney On Alma Festival Bill

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — Cheered on by rooters from their home towns, teams of eight strong men from area communities will compete in a contest of strength in a grand tug-of-war tournament to open with a bang the fourth annual Rieck's Lake Park Festival on Highway 35 north of Alma Friday night.

Alma Rod & Gun Club, sponsor of the park benefit, offers $10 to the champion tuggers and prizes to the runners-up.

Entered in the contest at the beginning of this week were Cochran, Nelson, Gilmanton, Tell, Modena and Alma, with prospects of several more, according to Ray Accola, tug-of-war chairman. The Alma team challenges the contest winners, Ray says.

SEVEN CARNIVAL rides and other entertainment and concessions will begin Friday night and continue through Saturday. Queen judging and a coronation dance are Saturday features. Canoe tilting, awarding of gifts and fun events Sunday will be climaxed by the annual fireworks display Sunday night.

Five more queens have joined the procession to bring to 12 the total entered. Latest to enter are 16-year-old Marlet Hoksch, 17-year-old Margo Boyd, and three more beauties who are 18:

Mary Larson, Mary Lou Plank and Barbara Bautch. Marlet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. and Hoksch, is sponsored by Stohr Furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyd are Margo's parents. Baecker's Standard Oil is sponsor. Tell Store sponsors Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Larson. Mary Lou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Plank, is sponsored by Burlington Hotel. Hartman's Clothing sponsors Barbara Bautch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bautch, Nelson.

Entering previously were Jane Scharr, Joan Siehl, Janice Stirn, Kathy Myren, Carol Bartz, Jeanette Lins and Ellen Averbek. Candidates will be judged Saturday at 2 p.m. The queen will be crowned at Reid's Pavilion, where the Swiss Girls orchestra will begin playing at 9 p.m. The queen will receive $25 and her attendants $15 and $10.

CANOE-TILTING Sunday afternoon will revive a favorite sport of early pioneer days when explorations were mostly by water. Canoeists found fun and excitement in testing their skill at jousting their competitors and spilling them into the water.

Bill Pattison, who's in charge, says it will be a bi-state championship event between Minnesota and Wisconsin. The sportsmen are offering prizes of $15 and $10, and for all runners-up, $5.

Rieck's Lake Park area is part of the Mississippi River lowlands over which the Department of the Army has jurisdiction. City of Alma has a license from the Army to use it for public park and recreation purposes. The Rod & Gun Club was active in clearing the park area of brush and some trees east of Highway 35, the Great River Road. Members opened up a lakeside area now enjoyed by campers and picnickers that the people of the community and tourists didn't know existed five years ago because of the underbrush.

Stripes Rides, White Bear Lake, Minn., will open for business Friday night. King's Band will play all through the carnival. Barbecued chicken and other refreshments will be available throughout the festival.

Coal Barges Break Away

ST. PAUL (AP) — About 40 barges, mostly loaded with coal, broke away from their moorings below St. Paul's Downtown Airport Tuesday and drifted down the Mississippi River for nearly five hours before all were grounded.

Several crashed into the Interstate Highway 494 bridge near South St. Paul and a bridge at Inver Grove Heights. Vehicular traffic was halted on roads until the damage was assessed. It was negligible.

About half of the 200-foot long barges grounded themselves, others were rounded up by towboats.

A spokesman for the Twin Cities Barge and Towing Co. said high water and a rapid river current caused a cable to break, releasing the barges in a chain reaction.

70 Match Skill in Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy youngsters ranging from 11 to 15 match wits with Webster's dictionary today in the opening of the 38th National Spelling Bee.

A practice round with Akimichi Chinen, an eighth-grader from Hawaii, as the first speller, kicks off the two days of competition for $5,700 in prizes.

With the exception of the practice round — which doesn't count in the official scoring — a contestant is eliminated if he or she misspells a word. The words get tougher with each round.

The 35 boys and 35 girls — girls usually far outnumber the boys in national competition — are the top spellers of more than 6 million youngsters who competed in local bees.

They represent 32 states, the District of Columbia and Guam.

The champion to be crowned Thursday will succeed William Kerek, now 13, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

The contest is sponsored by Scripps-Howard newspapers in 16 cities and 53 other daily and Sunday papers. Two contestants represent the New York World-Telegram & Sun.

First prize is $1,000 in cash, a weekend trip to New York City including a visit to the World's Fair, an appearance on the Ed Sullivan television show and $100 spending money for the champion and his or her escort.

UNIVERSITY COURSE

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Eight Trempealeau County women are attending College Week for Women at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. The course, sponsored by the state Extension Service and state Homemakers Council, opened Tuesday and closes Thursday.

Quat Under Pressure In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Phan Huy Quat said today he cannot solve South Viet Nam's current political crisis and that he has asked the army generals to mediate between his government and its opponents.

The move leaves Quat and his civilian government still in nominal power but moves the military back into the political arena. The generals were not named.

Quat and the chief of state, Phan Khanh Suu have been feuding for three weeks over two Cabinet changes Quat wants to make. Suu has refused to approve them. The dispute has emboldened Roman Catholic agitators who are staging daily anti-Quat demonstrations, charging the premier is discriminating against the Catholics.

Quat at a news conference today charged that Suu was obstructing efforts for a political conciliation.

The situation appeared to be moving toward a critical phase that could result in the collapse of the Quat government as well as an end to all chances of forming a coalition. Most observers feel if this happens a military coup will take place and a junta will be installed as the government.

Quat has been in office for four months.

Dave Knopick Hurls Lejetz Past Wabasha Legion 14-0

By DAVE HARRIS
Daily News Sports Writer

Winona's Lejetz, behind the five-hit pitching of Dave Knopick, pounded out a lop-sided 14-0 verdict over the Wabasha Legion team Tuesday night at Gabrych.

Two Wabasha runners managed to reach third base but died there. Leo Schmitz, leading off the first, walked and went to third on Eugene Wodele's single and a ground out to Knopick.

But the right hander struck out the next two men to end that threat.

In the fifth another single and the walk gave Wabasha two runners, but pinch hitter Jerry Ekstrand's hard grounder was turned into a double play ball by third baseman John Nett Jr., who threw to second baseman John Ahrens, who relayed to first baseman Gary Addington.

Knopick struck out ten and walked two in seven innings. Just through with active duty with the National Guard, he reports this weekend for two weeks' summer training.

Lejetz coach Bill Allaire was philosophical about the loss of Knopick. Well he might be, with several other pitchers on his staff, including Winona High's Todd Spencer and Cotter's Steve Styba.

"Knopick looked good for the first game he's pitched since last year," Allaire praised.

"The whole team looked good. There weren't many errors, we had heads-up base runners, the hitting was good and our bench came through with a pinch hit."

"THINGS ARE going well," Allaire summarized.

Speculating about a possible league championship and perhaps looking forward to the American Legion - sponsored state tournament in Winona this August, Allaire added: "We have the team to do it."

Winona batters collected 13 hits, including doubles by Knopick, Chuck Kulas and Ahrens. Knopick added two singles, Kulas and Ahrens one each. Loren Benz and Addington singled twice.

THE LEJETZ hopped on Wabasha starter and lone John Bills right from the start, with the first three men scoring on three walks, a single by Spencer, a sacrifice fly by Benz and Ahrens' double.

Benz singled and scored in the third following a single by Kulas and an error.

R. D. Boschulte was hit by Wabasha reliever Pete Nolla, stole second and scored on Gary Addington's single in the fourth.

THREE MORE runs crossed the plate for the Lejetz in the fifth, building their margin to 8-0, as Benz, Ahrens and Knopick singled and Kulas doubled. Centerfielder E. Wodele came in to pitch the sixth for Wabasha.

Six more runs crossed the plate for Winona, as substitute Mike Lee singled in a run. Knopick and Addington also singled around three walks, a hit batsman and an error.

For the visitors, Wodele and Clickner collected two singles in three trips.

THE LEJETZ entertain Ma-bel at Gabrych June 17 in their next game. The small post team travels to St. Charles today for a game.

FOR WHITE SOX

Joe Horlen Going After Pitching, Batting Honors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Staging a revolution from the right, Joe Horlen has begun phase two in his attempt to overthrow lefty Gary Peters as strong man of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff.

Horlen pushed Peters closer to the brink Tuesday night, continuing his masterful pitching while adding a potent offensive weapon in Chicago's 7-2 victory over Boston.

The 27-year-old right-hander ignited his operation last season in taking the team lead in earned run average away from Peters. He hasn't let up at all this year and now is threatening to surpass Peters as the team's best hitting hurler.

Horlen collected three singles, the second driving in a sixth-inning run that snapped a 2-2 deadlock and put the White Sox ahead to stay. The performance shot Horlen's batting average to .250 compared with .138 for Peters, who often has been used as a pinch hitter.

His four-hit pitching, meanwhile, brought Horlen his sixth triumph, most on the team, against three defeats. His earned run average of 1.93 is Chicago's best as well as being among the best in the American League.

Peters, now 4-4 with a 3.81 ERA, won 20 games to 13 for Horlen last season, but the right-hander's ERA of 1.88 was the lowest for the White Sox in 35 years and second only to Dean Chance's 1.65 in the AL. Peters' ERA last year was 2.50.

Against the Red Sox, Horlen allowed two hits in the second inning, one of them Lee Thomas' 11th homer, and two more in the third, then retired the final 19 batters he faced. He didn't walk anyone and now is averaging less than one walk per game.

In other AL contests, Minnesota stopped Cleveland's five-game winning streak 6-2, Kansas City ended New York's four-game string 3-2, Los Angeles trimmed Detroit 3-1 and Washington blanked Baltimore 2-0.

John O'Donoghue brought his record to 3-7 with a three-hitter against the Yankees. He held New York hitless until the fifth inning when Cleto Boyer tripled home two runs. The Athletics won it in the sixth on a bases-loaded single by Ed Charles.

Fred Newman turned in another outstanding pitching performance, holding Detroit to four hits and increasing his record to 7-3. The Angels broke a 1-1 deadlock with two sixth-inning runs as Willie Smith tripled in one and scored the other on Joe Adcock's single.

Washington handed Baltimore its second straight shutout as Pete Richert and Ron Kline combined for a four-hitter.

Twins' Draft Choices Seek Sizable Bonuses

ST. PAUL (AP) — Over-all bonus spending may dip a little, but the Minnesota Twins still expect to shell out sizable sums to young baseball prospects in the wake of Tuesday's first major league draft in which the Twins drafted 22 youngsters the first day.

Eddie Leon, an 18-year-old shortstop for the University of Arizona and the Twins' top choice, let it be known immediately that it will take a nice piece of change to get him to sign a pro contract.

"I want to stay in school," Leon said. "It will take a lot of money to get me to sign a contract right now." He said it would take a bonus of considerably over $20,000 to land him now.

And John Dow, a Bemidji High School senior drafted third by the Twins, said Minnesota's offer will determine whether he signs or elects to take a football scholarship.

"I'd rather play baseball, that's my first love," Dow said. "But I could go into football. When we finish playing in the regional baseball tournament, I'm going to sit down and evaluate everything. What I do will depend upon what kind of offer the Twins come up with."

Dow is a three-spot star at Bemidji, and has been offered grid scholarships by the University of Minnesota, North Dakota State, Moorhead State and Bemidji State. He's a halfback.

The Twins drafted Del Unser, hard hitting Mississippi State player from Decatur, Ill., second. He is 20, Dow 18.

After those top three, the Twins took Craig Nettles, 20, San Diego State second baseman, Neil McPhee, 21, Northeastern (Mass.) University shortstop, Terry Graham, 17, Carson City, Nev., high school first baseman, and Mickey Johnson, 19, Ridgewood, Va., high school catcher.

Dow and Unser are outfielders. Leon hit .328 in 50 games for Arizona this spring as a sophomore. He is a 6 foot, 195-pounder from Tucson who bats and throws right-handed. The Twins picked No. 9 among the 20 major league teams to get him.

Dow and Unser were taken for Denver in the Triple-A draft, and the other four for Charlotte, N.C., in the Double-A draft.

"I didn't dream I'd be drafted so high," Dow said. "I've always dreamed of playing professional baseball since I was a little guy, and that hasn't changed."

Pittsburgh drafted Steve Schneider, 21-year-old University of Minnesota shortstop from Willmar, Minn., while Washington picked up Fred Jacobs, 20-year-old Carleton second baseman from Evanston, Ill.

The Twins' five Class A teams, St. Cloud, Orlando, Wilson, Thomasville and Wisconsin Rapids, drafted 15 more players late Tuesday before the draft shut down for the night.

Former Astro 'Fireman' Now Only Fans Flames

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Houston's Hal Woodeshick, who used to be National League's safest late inning risk this side of Al McBean, has become accident prone.

"The Astros' southpaw relief specialist, who led NL pitchers with 22 saves last year and was a close second to Pittsburgh's McBean for Fireman of the Year laurels, handed the streaking Pirates a 7-6 victory Tuesday night by committing a two-out, bases-loaded balk in the 11th inning.

It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight victory and 16th in the last 18 starts, vaulting the Pirates back into the first division for the first time since April 25.

In the cellar two weeks ago, they share fifth place with St. Louis, one game under .500, today.

"The Astros, meanwhile, dropped their ninth extra-inning decision and 12th one-run game of the season. Woodeshick has been the villain in the last three one-run losses.

Sneed Tries For 25th Time To Win Open

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — Can Sam Sneed at 53 still win the Open?

Sam thinks he can — and there's not a man swinging a club who dares say he cannot. "All I need is a good start," the astounding slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., drawled after firing rounds of 67-70 for 137 over the par 71 Birmingham, Mich., Country Club Tuesday that qualified him for his 25th shot at the Open title.

Sneed, who has won more than 100 PGA tournaments and the last as late as this past spring, scoffs at the suggestion that the Open has him jinxed.

"It's just like any other tournament — there are 18 holes and the same players," Sam said. "I have quit tensing up. It doesn't scare me. If I can get a good start and get my confidence going, I think I can do all right."

The 65th Open is scheduled June 17-20 over the Bellerive Country Club course in St. Louis.

RUNS RECORD TO 8-0

Pascual Winning More, Though Striking Out Less

ST. PAUL (AP) — Camilo Pascual is striking out fewer batters than he has since his rookie season of 1954 in the American League, yet he's off to the best won-lost start of his 12-year major league career.

Pascual hurled the Minnesota Twins to a 6-2, six-hit victory over Cleveland Tuesday night. It was Pascual's eighth straight victory—matching the longest winning streak of his career. He also won eight in a row in August, 1963, when he had his best season record of 21-9.

The oddity is that Pascual is averaging striking out only 20.6 per cent of the batters he's faced. He has whiffed only 58 in 94 innings this spring. He has walked only 30 and allowed 70 hits, and owns a 2.50 earned run average.

The highest strikeout percentage Pascual ever had was in 1960 in Washington when he cut down 31.4 per cent of the men he faced. Since the Twins moved to Minnesota, his percentages have been 29.2, 26.6, 27.2 and 26.6.

He has never been as low as the 20.6 percentage since his first year with Washington when the average was 16.8 per cent.

"It doesn't really matter how many I strike out as long as we win," Pascual said. "I'd rather count victories than strikeouts because that's what they pay me for."

Pascual is earning an estimated $46,500 this year. With eight wins in 13 starts, he's setting a pace that could enable him to top his previous high of 21 wins in a year.

Harmon Killebrew and Earl Battey, a couple of bench riders Monday night when the Twins lost 2-1 to the Indians, returned to the lineup and provided the power Pascual needed for his victory.

Killebrew whacked a three-run homer in the first inning and Battey stroked a two-run homer in the fourth for a 5-2 cushion. Killebrew also doubled and scored on Bob Allison's sacrifice fly in the seventh for the final Twins run.

Rocky Colavito and Max Alvis hit homers off Pascual for the Indians' only answers.

Braves' Four Bombs In 10th Sink Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — "How did you like those depth charges out there?" cracked a happy Bobby Bragan, skipper of the National League's second place Milwaukee Braves.

He referred to four home runs in the 10th inning — by Joe Torre, Felipe Alou, Hank Aaron and Gene Oliver — that destroyed a 2-2 stalemate Tuesday and exploded the Braves for an 8-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

It was a great feat of cannonading, but it fell one short of the league's five-homer inning record shared by three clubs and last achieved by the San Francisco Giants in 1961.

THE BRAVES' barrage was interspersed by a walk to Eddie Mathews between the Alou and Aaron homers which kept the four blasts from being hit in succession.

Torre, the husky catcher who has been out with a pulled leg muscle, touched off the chain reaction with a pinch-homer off Andy McDaniel, third (Cub hurler). His blow came after Frank Bolling's single and Ty Cline's sacrifice bunt.

IF THE bunt had not worked, the Braves would have had a runner on first and one out and Bragan would have used Mike Del Hoz as a pinch hitter for Bob Sadowski. But with first open and no chance for a double play, Bragan sent up the injured Torre.

Torre slammed a high, outside breaking ball for his homer and the Braves led 4-2. Alou's homer sent McDaniel to the showers and in came Bob Hendley, who walked Mathews. Then Aaron homered and Oliver followed suit before Bob Humphreys retired the side.

Guards Say Old City of Luxor Haunted

By ALY MAHMOUD

LUXOR, Egypt (AP) — The men who guard the 4,000-year-old city of Luxor, one-time capital of the civilized world, swear it's haunted. They want the government to do something about it.

Luxor, burial ground of ancient Pharaohs, is an ideal breeding ground for ghosts and the myths that surround them.

Sixty-four kings and queens were buried in Luxor's silent Valley of the Kings, on the west bank of the Nile. Many of their tombs have been rifled over the centuries. Archeologists have removed their mummies and treasures to museums in Cairo, Europe and around the world.

The watchmen of the Valley of Kings are a close-knit group whose jobs are passed down from father to son. In recent months they have been gathering around camp fires at night exchanging hair-raising accounts of mysterious goings-on in the empty, echoing tombs they guard.

They report screams in the night, shuffling footsteps, the clatter of chariot wheels and shouts of anger and indignation.

The reason is obvious to them. The spirits of the kings and queens are outraged because their mummies have been removed along with the treasures and vessels they need for their final journey to the Gardens of Iaru, the paradise of the Pharaohs.

Abdel Maaboud Gomaa, 67, the head watchman, says there are several ways the spirits of the dead can be appeased.

"Someone who has mastered the hieroglyphic language must come to the valley and placate the angry spirits by explaining to them that their mummies are safely encased in the Cairo Museum," he says.

Some watchmen complained to officials of the Antiquities Department. The official brushed them aside, saying their stories are "too grotesque to be investigated."

The first time the watchmen heard the strange sounds was on the night of Feb. 26.

DEAR ABBY:

Girl Picks Own Gifts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A niece of mine, whom I'll call Sally, is graduating from high school in June. She plans to be married soon after graduation although as yet no date has been set for the wedding.

This morning I received an invitation to her graduation. Enclosed was a hand-written note from Sally. It read, "For my hope chest: Please go to Sears and ask for Mrs. Briggs. Tell her your name and she will give you a package. Price $10.95."

I've never heard of anyone doing such a thing, have you? What do you think of a girl like Sally, and what should I do about it? I planned on getting her a graduation gift, and when the time came for her wedding, I surely would have given her a wedding gift, too.

BEWILDERED AUNT

DEAR AUNT: Sally has shown herself to be extremely presumptuous and tasteless as well. Feeling as you do, ignore her "instructions" and buy her a graduation gift of your own choice — if, indeed, you wish to buy her a gift at all.

DEAR ABBY: I have been living with George (not his real name) for three years, but we are not legally married. We have two children under three. We love each other and would be married, but he is still married to Number One, and I am in the same predicament. We have lived in five different states so far and I am tired of moving. George is a good salesman and can get a job anywhere. Lately I suspect him of running around. He has stayed out all night many times. He says there is no other woman but what am I to think? I left him once, but I took him back. I can't take any more of this kind of living. I am beginning to think we will never be married. I want to leave him for good, but he says if I do, he will put our children in a home and charge me with being an unfit mother. Can he do this? I'll sign myself "Miss Pennsylvania," as that is where we are living now.

"MISS PENNSYLVANIA"

DEAR MISS PENNSYLVANIA: Only a lawyer can tell you whether, according to law, you are an "unfit mother," and the penalty for same, if indeed you are found to be one. I am not a lawyer and neither is George, so don't let him bully you. Your man sounds like no bargain, but he is the father of your children, so perhaps this mess is worth straightening out. How fortunate for you to be in Pennsylvania. You might need a Philadelphia lawyer to untangle your legal complications.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SICK AND HORRIFIED": Your problem is not uncommon. A young woman once wrote to tell me that after three weeks of marriage she had left her husband because she suspected that he was "abnormal." The fact was, the husband was perfectly normal. The wife was naive and sadly uninformed. I suggested that she have a frank talk with her doctor and I also recommended some excellent books further to enlighten her. If you will send me your name and address, I shall do the same for you.

Taylor Trip Not Critical

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday that nothing especially critical brought Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor home for consultations on the fighting in South Viet Nam.

"It is useful to have Ambassador Taylor here from time to time to review developments," Rusk told reporters. He brushed aside any suggestion Taylor might resign.

While the rainy season has produced an upsurge of Viet Cong aggression, Rusk added, he wouldn't call the South Vietnamese losses "massive."

And he added that the rainy season presents problems for the Communists as well as the South Vietnamese and U. S. forces.

"It will interfere with our air operations," Rusk said, "but it will also slow down the movement of supplies from North Viet Nam."

Rusk talked with newsmen before going into a closed session of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee considering appropriations to finance the operation of the State Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Element of Risk in Gemini Space Flight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — America's latest and longest space flight has come to a happy ending, as have all others before it. Nevertheless, space officials agree, there is always an element of risk in such bold ventures into the void.

How do Air Force Maj. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, who Monday completed their four-day Gemini flight, feel about this aspect of their jobs?

They talked freely about it in an interview shortly before their mission.

"There is an old fighter pilot's song that expresses it pretty well," McDivitt, 35, said. "We had it on a bulletin board in Korea."

White, 34, who did the now famous space walk, took it up from there with occasional prompting from McDivitt. "It went like this:

"Don't worry, you have two chances. Either you'll return to the squadron or you won't. If you return, no sweat. If you don't, you still have two chances. You'll get rescued or you won't. If you do, no sweat. If you don't, you'll get captured or you won't."

"Well, anyway," said McDivitt, "it finally says you'll either live or you won't. If you live, no sweat, and if you don't you've still got two chances. I thought it was really appropriate."

McDivitt continued: "Somebody is going to get killed on one. This is my personal opinion. I think that eventually we're going to have one that's not going to work successfully."

"You know the airlines are so safe, but every once in a while, one crashes and the same thing with jet fighters and everything else."

"I think the big problem is not how the flight crews are going to react to it, because we've been through this kind of thing many times before."

"The thing that concerns me is how the American public would react to it. You know they have to accept this kind of thing. It might be a minor thing. Maybe the booster just stops running and a couple of guys eject and it's all over, or it could be a lot worse than that, but we've got to accept the fact that eventually this is going to happen."

"Even if we had 99.999 reliability, eventually you get to that one point that makes it 1.0."

White said, "If it happens, we wouldn't want it to hold up the space program."

"We have to keep progressing. Just think what would happen if the first time somebody got hurt in an airplane we'd stopped fooling around with airplanes. We'd be the most backward country in the world right now."

McDivitt said, "As we fly more and more spacecraft we're going to have one come down and we're probably going to lose somebody in it."

"I've always figured, well, it could happen to somebody else, you know. And it always has, so far."

Five Doctors In This House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Yes, there is a doctor in the house — five of them, to be exact.

The newest addition is James F. Hamilton, 28, fourth son of a doctor whose father was a doctor.

Hamilton graduates this month from Ohio State University's School of Medicine, keeping alive a family tradition.

Three older brothers, his father and grandfather went ahead of him.

The grandfather, the late Dr. Edwin A. Hamilton, graduated from the University of Cincinnati Medical School in 1892.

The chain continued with his son, Dr. Walter H. Hamilton, a Columbus surgeon, who has now put four sons into the profession.

The eldest, Edwin, 37, is a general surgeon. Charles II, 26, is a surgeon and proctologist. They practice with their father. Walter W., 31, is a resident at Riverside Hospital here, where James will intern.

The New York chapter of the Knight's of Columbia's telephone number is Columbus 5-1492.

Mental Patients, College Youth Live Together in Test

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — On a quiet street near Harvard is a crowded house called Wellmet. Eight college students live there with eight mental patients. It is meant to be an alternative to endless days of custodial care.

Jets Rise Gracefully At Da Nang

By HAL BOYLE (AP) — DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — The 1st planes raced down the runway with an ear-cracking roar. They rose gracefully, then, like angry hornets, darted toward their targets in North Viet Nam.

The sight gave a thrill to Col. William O. Ezell, 44, Chattanooga, Tenn., the base commander. It always does.

He takes a paternal pride in the huge air base here which he believes now is one of the 10 busiest airports in the entire world.

Less than a year ago this was much more than just a country airstrip, he recalled. "In terms of traffic, we've gone up 10-fold in the last 11 months. We average more than 25,000 landings and takeoffs a month, not counting our helicopter operations. We can hardly keep track of them."

The base is full of ironic contrasts between the old and the new. The 10,000-foot runway is in the suburbs of South Viet Nam's second largest city.

The base lies in a stretch of sand and dust between high green hills, laced with white mist, and the endless blue waters of the South China Sea. It is bordered by crumbling old French forts, a poverty-stricken, one-street village known as "Dogpatch," and a cemetery situated with forgotten tombs over which lonely winds blow eerily.

On the 2.4-square-mile area of the base, ironic dramas of life and death are enacted daily. In a five-minute period a helicopter may whir down with dead and wounded. A C-130 supply plane may bring in an ailing Montagnard soldier from an isolated mountain camp. A civilian Garavelle, staffed by pretty, blue-uniformed Vietnamese hostesses, land with a group of Saigon businessmen. A squadron of propeller-driven Sky-radiers takes off to strafe one Viet Cong only a few miles away or flights of jets zoom up on a three-hour mission against bridges in North Viet Nam.

"We thought we had reached our capacity six months ago, but now I think we can expand considerably more," said Ezell, who flew 294 combat missions in the war.

The victims were Helen Jensen, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Jensen, Sr., Lakeville, and Diane Wales, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wales, Bloomington.

The Jensen girl had been playing with her brother John Jr., 5, and Thomas, 4, and when she disappeared, the boys couldn't tell their father where she was. Jensen went to a boat anchored at the shoreline of nearby Lake Marion. One of the boys finally pointed to the water and said: "She went in there." Jensen recovered the body from six feet of water.

The Wales child drowned in the rain-swollen Nine Mile Creek five blocks from her home. She had been playing under a foot bridge with a brother and sister when she tumbled into the creek and was carried away by the current.

Johnson's Big Trouble Mostly In Foreign Affairs

By JAMES MARLOW (Associated Press) — WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's successes so far have been just the opposite of those of Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower whose most notable achievements were in foreign affairs.

There Johnson has run into frustrations in the two places where he has made his highest pitch: Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. He has been far more successful than Kennedy or Eisenhower in dealing with Congress.

Kennedy dumped programs on Congress but never pushed for them as Johnson has. Eisenhower's domestic record might have looked truly dismal if he had not had a cooperative Democratic Congress to help him.

Of the three men, Eisenhower by far had the worst time starting out. He inherited the Korean War and McCarthyism, and both were at their peak when he took office.

He got a truce in Korea and, after some hard months, with Sen. Joseph McCarthy, the Wisconsin Communist-hunter, was eliminated as a problem by the Senate which pushed McCarthy into limbo.

It was rather calm for Kennedy, starting out, but he created a disaster for himself in no time by backing a Cuban invasion which never got beyond the beaches. This was the worst mistake in Kennedy's presidency.

He made up for it by forcing the Russians to pull their missiles out of Cuba, getting them to sign a limited nuclear test ban.

Johnson's inaugural last January, not nearly so well written as Kennedy's, was a bit of a mishmash, weaving back and forth between domestic and foreign affairs, full of pious aspirations, saying not much concrete on anything.

In 14 months in office following Kennedy's assassination and before he took the oath of office for his own full four-year term, Johnson set a blazing record with Congress and continued it this year.

His foreign dealings in those first 14 months were hardly more than an exchange of pleasantries. He concentrated on the home scene and the 1964 presidential race.

It was after his inaugural that he really moved into the foreign field, where his experience was least, although he, too, had inherited a war, the one in Viet Nam, where Americans were not supposed to be directly involved although that was a myth.

When Viet Cong guerrillas blasted a U.S. air base Johnson put this country fully into the war by ordering the bombing of North Viet Nam. Apparently with the idea it would bring the Communists to the conference table, if not to their knees, to take advantage of the situation.

It has had apparently no effect on them, although he has kept up the bombing since last Feb. 7, with the exception of six days. While there is no end in sight it will get immeasurably worse if the Soviet Union or Red China move in.

Then, when the Dominican Republic's revolution began, Johnson put the United States wholesale into the problem to stop, as he said, the Communists from capturing the country. Since then his administration has been giving out word the Communists there are no longer a menace.

Johnson's aides have been trying to get both sides to a coalition government. This has been a frustrating ordeal by itself, and even if a coalition government is set up it may not last long for the Dominicans seem split into factions, groups, and even individual hatreds.

The Panamanian Communist response to the opportunity for violence presented by the Dominican crisis is more evidence of the damage done to the extreme left in Latin America by the Moscow-Peking quarrel.

The Communists will keep trying. There is always a possibility that some incident — involving the Canal Zone and revived Panamanian feelings of flouted sovereignty, for example — could supply a spark with which Communists could inflame crowds. Such a demonstration could be turned into riot against the Americans on the Dominican issue and against the government for its only slightly qualified support of Washington in the Organization of American States.

There is a multiplicity of domestic issues — high prices, a certain amount of unemployment, negotiations with Washington looking toward a revision of the Panama Canal treaty — which could provide the extreme leftists ammunition. The situation of Panama chronically is more or less delicate.

Lawford Denies He and Wife Will Separate

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Peter Lawford was quoted today as denying a report that he and his wife plan a legal separation.

Lawford, in Hollywood, was quoted by columnist Earl Wilson in the New York Post. Wilson quoted him as saying: "We have a geographical problem because of my work" but no plans for a separation.

His wife is the former Pat Kennedy. The report appeared in Time magazine and Lawford was quoted as laughing at several errors in the text.

"I refer to our three children — well, I've got four of them. It says we're both Roman Catholics. Pat is but I'm not," he was quoted as saying.

Time said that Lawford, 39, and the late President John F. Kennedy's sister, 41, have been living apart for several months in a place among crows to make a film in Hollywood and she in New York. They have three children, staying with Mrs. Lawford.

The magazine added: "Now, according to a close family source, Roman Catholic Peter and Pat have decided, after 11 years of marriage, to make the separation permanent and legal."

Cuba Launches Drive Against Beatle Haircuts

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Cuban government has launched a campaign against homosexuality, Beatle-style haircuts, the twist and "other capitalistic inheritances."

As usual, Uncle Sam is the villain. Havana newspapers joined the campaign, stating that homosexuality is "a vicious capitalist inheritance." They said that in "a Socialist society there is no room for it. The homosexuals do not represent the revolution and the virile Cuban people."

Centering its campaign on the armed forces and the universities, the government vilified the "homosexuals, the weak boys and those long-haired and strange fellows."

The latest edition of Verde Olivo — Green Olive Tree — the armed forces weekly magazine, printed two full pages of drawings blaming the United States and beatniks for homosexuality in Cuba.

The magazine, which is distributed to young army draftees, shows Uncle Sam dancing and holding hands with a homosexual and a young man with long hair.

Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro, in a recent speech to air force officers, warned Cuban youths "not to receive their inspiration from the twist and rock 'n' roll dancers. They should run away from those weaklings."

Castro did not mention homosexuality, but the Cuban press immediately took up his observations and included in editorial comment the "homosexual problem — that inheritance from capitalism which is still going strong in Cuba."

Jaime Crombet, president of the University Students Federation, announced that "very soon a purge of all homosexual students will begin at the University of Havana."

Kennedy, LBJ Talks Similar

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two years apart, almost to the day, Presidents Kennedy and Johnson made Commencement Day addresses which were identical in several ways.

Both called for peace, both made their appeal to the Russians, and neither mentioned the Red Chinese. The two presidents apparently felt it was hopeless to appeal to the Chinese.

In those two years the United States took one step nearer to peace and one away from it.

In his talk at American University on June 10, 1963, Kennedy announced the United States would try to work out a limited nuclear test-ban treaty with the Soviet Union. Within several months the treaty was signed. They've had no test in the atmosphere since.

The United States has been in an undeclared war in Southeast Asia since last February when Johnson ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam. A little over a month ago he sent troops into the Dominican Republic's revolution to save lives, he said, and to prevent a Communist takeover.

He has been criticized for both actions at home and abroad but in his talk at Catholic University here Sunday Johnson explained that in both cases the American intention was to preserve peace.

Both presidents expressed concern that American motives are misunderstood abroad, or misrepresented. But, where Kennedy talked of what he called a "practical, attainable peace," Johnson talked of ideals, morality and love.

"World peace," Kennedy said, "like community peace, does not require that each man love his neighbor — it requires only that they live together with mutual tolerance, submitting their disputes to a just and peaceful settlement."

toward peace — banning American nuclear tests while negotiating with the Soviet Union for a joint agreement not to test in the atmosphere — Johnson was unspecific and talked of peace in general terms.

How either president could have any assurance of peace — so long as Red China is hostile and busy building an atomic arsenal — is not clear, which is a problem both must have considered in leaving out any mention of Red China.

Johnson did include the Southeast Asian Communists in his peace appeal Sunday but there the Communists are the leaders of American-bombed North Viet Nam who haven't buckled or bent under the U.S. attack and have said there can be no peace until the Americans clear out of South Viet Nam.

When Kennedy made his talk, American — Russian relations were better than they are now. The Soviets have been critical of Johnson's military actions. Trying to soothe them may have been one of the things he had in mind. Just what he has in mind about peace isn't clear, since he didn't spell out any of it.

TRouble WITH FOOTWORK

LONDON (AP) — Reginald Griffiths, 43, a truck driver, told a judge he was unsteady on his feet in a police station because of fallen arches and corns.

The judge, however, accepted the police doctor's testimony that Griffiths was drunk when arrested recently.

The judge fined him 50 pounds ($140) and costs of 40 pounds ($112) after finding him guilty of driving while unfit because of drink. Griffiths also was barred from driving for 18 months.

WIGS FROM INDIA

NEW DELHI (AP) — Human hair has become a big export item in India. In nine months last year, 25,602 kilos of hair valued at 1,979,868 rupees ($415,730) was exported to Western countries.

Standards Set For Dog Food

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona Livestock Sanitary Board has decreed that dog food should be suitable for human consumption.

It's not that people are demanding dog food for themselves. But the board notes that dog food and human food frequently are stored in the same refrigerator. And a person wanting a midnight snack might just sleepily grab some of his pooch's food and eat it by mistake.

So the board is revamping some of its rules and regulations to make sure illicit sources of meat products unfit for human consumption are suppressed. In that way, they can't even be used for dog food.

Corn Surplus Lowest Since 1955, Report

By OVID MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reserve and surplus supply of corn at the end of the 1965 crop year, Oct. 1, will be the smallest since 1955, largely because of land diversion programs and increased livestock feeding, the Agriculture Department said today.

This supply was forecast at 1,125,000,000 bushels, down 400 million from a year earlier.

The department has been offering price supports and payments to farmers who reduced their acreages of corn and such other feed grains as barley and sorghum grain. Adverse weather last year also helped hold down production.

Government payments on the 1964 crop of feed grains have been estimated at about $1.2 billion. A similar program in effect this year is expected to reduce extra supplies additionally.

The total carryover of feed grains next Oct. 1 was forecast at 56 million tons, compared with 68.7 million a year earlier and the record high of 84.7 million in 1960.

The department said domestic use of feed grains during the first half of this corn season totaled 84.2 million tons compared with 82.9 million a year earlier. Reports indicated that much of the increase was in feeding cattle. Hog numbers have been declining.

Stanleyville Ghost Town

STANLEYVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Stanleyville, once the Congo's teeming northern metropolis, lies still today in the African heat, virtually a ghost town.

When President Joseph Kasavubu arrived this week for a brief visit, only small groups of people gathered to watch him.

They apparently were glad to see him. But there are not enough people left to rally into large enthusiastic crowds.

Six months after Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenaries and government troops retook the city from the rebels and a U.S.-Belgian paratroop operation rescued white hostages, only 40,000 people have returned. The population used to be a quarter of a million.

The rest are hiding in the bush. The government fully controls only a few square miles in the center of the city where American missionary Dr. Paul Carlson died.

Carlson was one of about 30 persons killed just before Belgian paratroopers swept into the rebel capital after dropping from U.S. Air Force planes.

The rebels are still out in the bush and even in the outskirts of the city. The people who have come back show it in their faces.

The white mercenaries who rolled in after the Belgian paratroopers are gone. But soldiers are still common sights, gray-uniformed Congolese government soldiers carrying sub-machine guns.

The back streets seem deserted, with only a few houses occupied. There is little major war damage, but almost every building still has broken windows and walls are pocked with old bullet holes.

Electricity works but the flow of the impure water supply is scant at best.

Prices of everything are about 15 per cent higher than in Leopoldville, far down the Congo River to the south, and goods are short. Barge traffic up the Congo still has to brave rebel territory and not many risk the trip.

NOBODY KNEW NEW DELHI (AP) — During a serious water shortage, a New Delhi newspaper discovered a broken water main was sending hundreds of gallons of water down the drain daily and had been since 1962.

House Votes Against Closing Vet Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Veterans Affairs Committee unanimously approved Tuesday a bill to take from the Veterans Administration the power to close veterans hospitals.

The action came only seconds ahead of a call from the White House reportedly aimed at blocking the bill.

Under the bill the congressmen themselves would determine whether hospitals and other VA facilities would be closed. Introduction of the measure was prompted by a Johnson administration order calling for closing of nearly a dozen hospitals throughout the country.

One member of the committee said the group was about to vote on the measure when word came that President Johnson personally wanted to talk with Chairman Olin Teague, D-Tex.

Before going to the phone, this member said, Teague called for a vote. The chairman then talked with the President, and upon hearing the President put in word against the pending legislation, was able to tell him the committee already had acted.

The President's special committee named to study the hospital closing problem is expected to submit a report later this week. It is understood the report will recommend the closing of several but not all of the hospitals the administration had proposed to shut down.

Have you ever wondered what constitutes doing right by the kids? I have, and I'm not sure my views would be shared by the so-called experts. However, I'm going to risk it nevertheless.

Bringing up Junior or Jane is a full-time task in that these little ones learn by hearing, seeing, and doing, and to neglect your own manners in life is to teach these eager learners through a poor example. This is why many times it's a case of like father, like son, and that's not always good.

Often a parent tries to transfer the responsibility of personal attention to his youngsters through his or her pocketbook and then exclaims, when the child goes wrong, "I can't understand. I gave him the best of everything," excluding of course his or her self.

MUCH COULD be said about parents and child relationships in early years, but it's the late teens and early twenties that I would like to give some thought to. I expect there has never been a time that parents have been so determined that their youngsters get a college education, and many moms and dads will sacrificially send their children off to institutions of learning. Plans for saving for a college education have been devised and sold so that the parents wouldn't have to let the kids down, come college.

Now I wonder if there isn't merit in the attitude that going to a college is quite adult and that the young man or woman should think more in the terms of putting himself through and being most happy for any and all help that he may receive—but certainly not depend on it.

SOON MY first-born will be off to college. Now I informed this young lady, who by the way is the apple of her daddy's eye, that I wouldn't promise to put her or her sisters through school, but that I would be happy to show them how to get through on their own. They have been told this for several years.

Now this 18-year-old boasts with an air of determination, the attitude that she doesn't want her way paid—that going to college is her responsibility. Remember—dad promised to show her how to get through on her own? Well, sir, the process has started, as her vacation is being used to develop her abilities in creative writing, office procedures, tape-recording, etc., so the chances of getting a good part-time job will be enhanced, having had experience.

MY POINT is that college is adult, and the reality of life is less bruising if an effort is made at some sacrifice to gain higher education, rather than to float through college and step into this old life with a degree and a misconception regarding the facts of a hard business world. And you know, I think I'm doing right by the kids. What do you think?

NASON ON EDUCATION

Children Need Parents' Time

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
University of S. Calif.

It need not be the hour between daylight and darkness as eloquently described by Longfellow in "The Children's Hour," but children do need some of their parents' time on a regular basis.

Life in Longfellow's day was in a slower tempo than now. Even so, time was set aside consciously for reading and quiet games — time when a mother's attention was given wholly to the children. She would then give special consideration to their training, and the children could get mother's ear.

Nowadays, summer activities in the home should be planned to include something of this nature.

We can't turn back the clock and recapture the quiet twilight hour of yesterday. We can't banish television, radio, telephones and other features of life in our congested towns and cities. Yet all such developments make it more important than ever that mothers be sure there are times and situations in which they focus attention on the training of their children.

PARENTS should keep in mind that good behavior helps bring success in school, and train their children accordingly. Only when a child starts classes with good behavior a matter of habit is he ready to start learning. This does not come about suddenly; it takes weeks and months of day-by-day guidance and reminders.

To be successful in school, children must have training in listening, attentively following directions, observing surroundings, expressing their ideas and taking part in activities with others.

Surprising progress in these skills can be made in a single summer if planning is given to the project.

Mother can give her full attention to one or two children on a trip to the market if her shopping list has been carefully prepared ahead of time and if she makes it a point to use the occasion to give the children practice in observing their surroundings and in expressing their ideas.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR training on such a trip are many and varied. The children can learn new words and have experiences that can be told later to father or to an older brother or sister. They can be taught to listen to mother and direct their attention to things of mother's choice.

They can be given practice in expressing themselves, while mother insists on correct use of words, and correct pronunciation.

They can be taught to follow directions as to their conduct in the market, and to recognize the rights of others as they work their way among people and through the check-out lines.

Of course, trips to market do not provide the only opportunities for learning. Most any journey or gathering will do.

Women Haul The Cargo In Red China

Editor's Note — U.S. reporters are barred from Red China, but the chief of Southern News Services in Canada now is touring that east country and is making his dispatches available to The Associated Press.

By CHARLES LYNCH
SIAM, China (AP)—In Egypt, I was staggered by the loads carried by camels. The camels were pretty staggered, too.

Here in Siam, often called the birthplace of China, I am staggered by the loads hauled by women.

My feelings about women are not the same as my feelings about camels, so it is with some pain that I witness the good ladies of Siam straining at the shafts of their cargo rickshaws, moving the goods of the city through the streets.

The men, of course, haul even bigger loads — huge blocks of concrete, and as many as six logs, each a foot thick and 10 feet long; cargoes of coal, cargoes of mud, cargoes of everything.

In the museum here, they have a chart to show that in the bad old days, five men equaled one horse in the economy of China. To judge by the sights in the streets of Siam, they have now cut that down to two men equalling one horse, in terms of pulling power.

The bicycle rickshaws used as taxis here are larger than the ones in Peking. The Peking models carry only one passenger—but these, like the ones in India, have broader seats and one can seat two adults and two children. At that, it's doubtless better than hauling cement on foot.

"Write what you see," they say, and what one sees in Siam includes 12 men working on a single pothole in the street; people living in caves while a huge hotel built for the departed Russians stands empty; the ancient walls of the city falling down—a city that fails to measure up to the propaganda image claimed for it.

The current issue of "China Reconstructs," a glossy Peking periodical, has a feature art on Siam that fails to prepare the traveler for the realities of the city, simply by including only the good and avoiding the city's more obvious characteristics.

When they say the former slums have been cleaned out, they state something that simply is not true. When they speak of hatched hovels in the past tense, they mislead many streets are lined with them.

When they talk of people who used to eke out miserable livelihoods pulling rickshaws and carts or working as coolies, they fail to mention that thousands continue to do so. When they say that all streets have been paved, the mud on one's feet testifies that it is not so.

The magazine correctly praises the beauty of the ancient museum of Siam, world-famed for its collection of Buddhist tablets, and for the 5th century carvings of the Wei horses, four of which are here, and two of which are in Philadelphia, Pa.

The "theft" of these two horses by the agents of U.S. imperialism is made much of even more eloquent is the fact that the four remaining horses were cut up for shipment to the United States and are exhibited with the cricks opened as wide as possible.

BALANCE SHEETS

ROME (AP)—Italy is finally manufacturing more automobiles than bicycles. Last year the total automobile production amounted to just over one million cars. Bicycle production was about 900,000.

Man Stages Funeral While He's Alive

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Gerald McKinney sniffed the roses at his funeral, just the way he wanted to.

A couple of oldtimers agreed that his service Sunday was a lot fancier than the early funeral of his great-grandfather here 69 years ago which had given him the idea.

McKinney, 42, a Springfield factory worker, staged the funeral because he said he wanted friends to "give me the roses while I live." Roses he had — a big spray of them atop the coffin which sat to one side while a preacher sermonized and musicians played.

After the rite, McKinney sniffed a rose from the spray — then plucked blossoms to give to female vocalists who took part in the service.

It was a lot bigger affair than the funeral his great-grandfather, Lorenzo Dow McKinney, had preached in 1896, eight years before his death, said two men who saw both services.

In 1896, said Joe McKinney, 88, of Portsmouth, "they didn't have any singing." Smith Carter, 79, of near Lucasville, agreed: "The preacher just got up and told how good a man he was."

Sunday's service, McKinney observed, was "more like the Fourth of July."

Both oldtimers agreed that McKinney's crowd of 800 to 1,000 at the county fairgrounds near Lucasville 10 miles north of this Ohio River city was bigger than his great-grandfather had.

McKinney was pleased with his service except for the size of the crowd, which filled the small grandstand on the fairgrounds race track and waited 15 minutes past the scheduled starting hour. He had hoped for 5,000.

McKinney took an active part in his funeral, urging applause for various performers and introducing some of the musicians — several of them recruited from nearby clubs — who played and sang a mixture of religious, country and popular songs. McKinney said he wanted no second funeral after his death, "just a simple graveside service."

Red Supply Depot Hit in N. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thirty-three American jets hit the Vinh supply depot in North Viet Nam again Tuesday and pilots reported heavy damage to the target despite intense antiaircraft fire.

The raid on Vinh, 160 miles south of Hanoi, was the heaviest reported as American planes continued to hammer at targets north of the demilitarized zone. Spokesmen said all planes returned safely to their land bases or carrier bases.

Vinh had been hit Monday by U.S. Air Force planes. After the 10-minute attack today, pilots reported they inflicted extensive damage on the 40 or 50 buildings still standing in the supply depot area. They said exact damage assessments were difficult to make because of the intense ground fire.

Spokesmen said 23 tons of 750-pound bombs were dropped. They said no enemy planes were sighted.

U.S. Navy warplanes ranged over North Viet Nam for an hour Monday night, bombing and strafing bridges, warehouses, an oil depot and railway cars.

A U.S. military spokesman said four Skyraider fighter-bombers from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Bon Homme Richard flew within 90 miles of Hanoi, the Communist capital. They encountered heavy groundfire in some areas, but all returned safely.

Using 500- and 1,000-pound bombs, cannon and rockets, the raiders attacked 14 warehouses 155 miles south of Hanoi. They reported three buildings afire and three smoldering.

The pilots also reported damage to a petroleum storage depot 130 miles southwest of the Red capital and said antiaircraft fire was heavy there. A warehouse area 130 miles south of Hanoi was reported 60 per cent destroyed.

Targets also included one bridge 90 miles southwest of Hanoi and another 165 miles southwest.

A report from Da Nang said Viet Cong forces blew up a concrete bridge today on Highway 1 as the Communists continued their drive to disrupt road and rail traffic in and out of Da Nang. Military authorities said the bridge near the Hai Ban pass between Da Nang and Hue would be repaired by tonight.

About 400 more Australian troops arrived aboard the carrier Sydney at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. They were flown to Bien Hoa air base 15 miles northeast of the capital to join other elements of the Royal Australian Regiment.

About 800 Australians are being sent to Viet Nam. They will be stationed with U.S. paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade at Bien Hoa.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Corps at Da Nang, where 16,000 U.S. Marines are stationed, said the U.S. command has put the leathernecks at his disposal for use in major operations against the Viet Cong.

CLOSE ENOUGH

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt has donated a campaign hat worn by his father, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, to Kentucky and Gov. Edward T. Breathitt will give it to the Historical Society.

Kentucky received the weather-beaten gray fedora as the result of a pledge by Roosevelt last year if President Johnson obtained a 300,000 state majority in the November election. The count was 204,000 but the state got the hat anyway.

You May Need License to Have Babies in 1984

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The beginnings of test-tube babies? Sperm and egg banks for delayed procreation? A license to have children? All by 1984?

Possibly, says a geneticist—Dr. Bentley Glass, Johns Hopkins University professor of biology who recently was named academic vice president of the State University of New York at Stony Brook, N.Y.

Glass emphasized in a recent interview he was not forecasting that "you can grow babies in bottles" in the next 20 years.

But he envisions growing test-tube human embryos for a reproduction process he calls "prenatal adoption."

A female egg would be fertilized by sperm in a laboratory culture. The resulting human embryo would be nurtured in the laboratory up to 10 days and then implanted in a woman's uterus to mature and be born—in the conventional manner.

"The offspring would not be the genetic child of the couple," Glass said, since both the egg and the sperm would be taken from donors.

Glass considers "prenatal adoption" superior to regular adoption and to artificial insemination for couples who could not normally have children.

In artificial insemination, the fertile wife is made pregnant by a donor sperm.

In prenatal adoption, both husband and wife are equally not responsible genetically and yet the pregnancy and birth resemble the natural process so much that it would "produce the same kind of parental reaction," Glass thinks.

He believes this is possible within 20 years.

"Within two decades it will be possible to take material from selected individuals and grow supplies" of donor male sperm and female eggs and mate them, he said.

"I believe the creation of life in this matter is ethical," said Glass, who is the son of Baptist missionaries.

Glass also thinks the storing of sperm and eggs for future artificial mating will be possible within the next two decades, and perhaps desirable as a general practice.

The radiation one normally absorbs through the years causes mutations in the genes, which can result in deformed children, he said.

Birth control enables some couples to wait until they can afford children. While their bank account grows, so do the gene mutations.

"To avoid this, sperm and egg banks could be established for every individual," Glass said.

Glass suggested that before the century is out, couples in some overpopulated countries may be issued licenses to have a limited number of babies, along with their marriage licenses.

Penalties would be invoked if a couple exceeded its legal limit.

New Trial For Estes

DALLAS (AP) — Billie Sol Estes, the promoter who fled loan companies of millions of dollars, will be tried a second time on state charges, a prosecutor says. The U.S. Supreme Court reversed his conviction Monday.

The high court, in a 5-4 decision, ruled that Estes did not receive a fair trial in 1962 because the hearing was televised.

Dist. Atty. A.R. Archer Jr. said at Monahan, Tex., that he will prosecute Estes again — either on the same charge or a similar one. Estes was assessed eight years for swindling in the 1962 trial.

The Supreme Court ruling did not affect the federal court conviction in El Paso, Tex., in which Estes was sentenced to 15 years. He now is in Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Spending at Speedy Pace

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Business expansion plans are themselves expanding. And such spending is expected to hit its fastest pace in the final months of the year.

These record outlays can spread through many segments of the national economy, pepping up sales and production for many industries from metals to business services.

This is one of the most reassuring prospects in this period of uncertainty in the stock markets and of economic pulse-taking in many quarters.

Scaling upward of capital spending plans is reported by a survey of business intentions by the Commerce Department and the Securities & Exchange Commission. Outlays are expected to rise to $52 billion at an annual rate in the final months of 1965. This stimulant to the economy in the months just ahead will be welcomed by those who now are having a case of nerves.

A corollary statistic on the current situation is the Census Bureau's report that construction outlays are running 3 per cent ahead of the first five months of 1964. Actual expenditures so far this year have been $24.6 billion. Construction is only a part of business capital spending and it also takes in other private and government activity.

Pointing to an increase in such construction spending in coming months is the awarding of contracts. This also has turned upward and is well ahead of year ago figures.

Together the capital spending intentions and the actual construction testify to general confidence in industrial and commercial circles that the future will bring increased demands for their products and services.

Construction's widespread influence is shown in its effects on the output of other industries. This ranges from about two-thirds of total demand for heating, plumbing and structural metal products and better than 50 per cent for stone and clay products, to about 5 per cent for glass and glass products and about 7 per cent for petroleum refining and related industries.

In between are sizable percentages that construction outlays mean for the production of lumber and wood, mining and quarrying, electric lighting and wiring, iron and steel manufacturing, nonferrous metal products, paints and a 10 per cent gain for business services.

The latest survey of capital spending plans shows a larger percentage expected to go into actual expansion this year than recently, and comparatively less for modernization than dominated such spending in the last three or four years. The government survey estimates the outlays for the year at $50.4 billion, up 12.3 per cent from 1964's record. Earlier in the year the government forecast was for a rise of 11.8 per cent.

Copy of Thompson Order Received

ST. PAUL (AP) — Ramsey County attorney William Randall said Tuesday he has received a copy of a Minnesota Supreme Court order refusing to release T. Eugene Thompson on bail pending his appeal of a first degree murder conviction. The motion seeking to free Thompson, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of his wife, was filed by his attorney, C. Paul Jones of Minneapolis.

Rains Come to Southeast Asia

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The rains have come again to Southeast Asia, great sweeping sheets of water which give life and take it away. From the tiny, green kingdom of Laos, across the rich rice lands of Thailand and Cambodia to the scarred fields of Vietnam, the annual monsoon rains soak man, animal, city and jungle. The great, meandering Mekong River a month ago a placid, muddy stream will swell several times its size to become a menace to villages on its banks. Life changes when the rains begin. In the countryside of Thailand, farmers spend more time at home. But in war-weary South Vietnam, there is no peace, no stopping. On the contrary, the Viet Cong steps up its hit-and-run warfare. The rains give the Viet Cong a protective cover and blot out visibility of government planes. As the rains advance across fields and cities, the scene can be impressive: black clouds rolling over green jungle still glistening in the sunlight, the white glare of lightning, the sudden rush of wind, then the thunderous, drowning roar of the rain. Deep in the jungle, a night-like gloom settles. The birds and animals are suddenly silent. The wind gives a final sigh and stops. The water can be heard splattering on leaves far overhead but it takes minutes for the rain to trickle through the cover. Then, as quickly as they came, the rains stop and a washed-out blue sky brings promise of relief.

Upton Creek Throws Party For Girl Grad

UPTON CREEK, W.Va. (AP) — One day this month, the citizens of this tiny community 20 miles west of Charleston threw a party to celebrate the high school graduation of Stella Hall. Why should an entire community turn out to honor the graduation of one girl? Well, Stella is the first Upton Creek student to receive a high school diploma in six years. The school is in a town a few miles away. Upton Creek is typical of many towns in the mountain hollows of West Virginia plagued by bad roads, long-time unemployment and what social scientists call the psychology of poverty — meaning that after poverty and isolation, communities and their citizens lose their interest in school and other fixtures of 20th-century society. This is what happened to Upton Creek — until the community and an improvement group known as Action for Appalachian Youth got together. They hope the result of their work will be to upgrade the town and inspire its citizens to develop new goals. Stella enters nurses' training next fall.

Gov. Rolvaag Speaker at Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The year 1965 will be remembered as the year Minnesota began to open the door to its mentally retarded, Gov. Karl Rolvaag of Minnesota said Tuesday.

He made the statement in a talk prepared for the 2nd national conference of state mental retardation planning coordinators in Miami Beach, Fla. Rolvaag was the keynote speaker.

He listed among the accomplishments of 1965 Minnesota Legislature a sharp increase in staff for institutions for the mental retardation, increased appropriations for daytime activity centers and increased state aid for special education.

The governor credited "a remarkable campaign of cooperation and education" for the accomplishments. He said the campaign began with a series of bus tours of institutions for the mentally retarded. The tours were sponsored by the governor's office, the Minnesota Association for Mental Health and the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children.

The governor said much remains to be done.

"Clearly," he said, "we have an immediate responsibility, one that we are seeking to fulfill in legislative action, to provide minimum services, to upgrade our care facilities, to expand and strengthen every program that aids and rehabilitates."

He said creation by the legislature of a state planning agency under his office should be of great assistance.
